NEW GERMAN ARMY CHECKS RUSSIANS IN CARPATHIANS

Kaiser Hurries Troops to Austrians' Assistance and More Than 7000 Muscovite Prisoners Are Taken in Passes.

Czar's Forces Stopped in the Lupkow Pass, but They Continue to Advance at Another Point.

French Advance Northeast of Verdun — Belgians Dislodge Germans Who Cross the Year.

By Associated Press.
LONDON, April 7.—The military situation in the Carpathians is competing with the prohibition question in the interest of the British public. The cabinet meets today. It is expected that announcement will be made of measures to provide drastic restrictions on the consumption of liquors, but total prohibition is not expected.

Attention is concentrated on the Carpathian passes, where the Russians are bringing up heavy reinforcements to push their attack, the success of which is expected only through weight of numbers, on the other hand the Austrian and German commands also are making strenuous efforts to strengthen their forces. German forces would appear to have been rushed from France and Poland to reinforce the Austrians.

Petrograd reports that the section near the Nizhny Novgorod, where Vienna admits a retreat, extends 17 miles. To offset this, Vienna announces a counter-offensive movement near Lupkow Pass, where the Austrians report the taking of several Russian positions with the capture of 700 prisoners.

Russians checked at Lughow.
A conservative interpretation of both the Russian and the Austrian reports leads to the belief that the Russian offensive at Lupkow has been checked, while the Muscovites have forced their way through the Nizhny Novgorod, capturing two villages on the southern side of the range.

In the western arena of the war the French continue their offensive movement between the Meuse and the Lowland frontier. Their reported gains in the Allied force indicate the possibility of a new danger for the Germans holding St. Mihiel, while the advance to the east of Verdun is regarded in London as threatening St. Mihiel from the north. Berlin reports heavy fighting in this region without results for the French.

Today's statement from the French War Office says a German detachment with three machine guns succeeded in crossing the left bank of the Meuse, south of Diest. It was attacked yesterday and dislodged by Belgian forces.

An attack made by the French in the vicinity of Etain (15 miles northeast of Verdun) made them masters of hills No. 219 and No. 221, in addition to the Haut Bois and the Hospital farms. In Esparges the French gained ground. In the Bando-Sapt the French mined and blew up a German position.

German headquarters says that the village of Drel Grachten, which was occupied by the Germans Monday and which was bombarded by the Belgians' heaviest artillery and mine throwers, was abandoned by the Germans last night. In the Combray hills two French battalions were destroyed by the German fire. Notwithstanding a heavy snowstorm, fighting has been going on since yesterday afternoon at Hartmannsweilerkopf.

During an advance on Russian territory in the direction of Andover and east of Mamel, German cavalry annihilated a Russian battalion.

The belief that operations in the Dardanelles have been resumed are general in London today. Nevertheless complete silence prevails concerning details of the result of any activities.

The Russian War Office announces that all the Austrian prisoners from Przemyśl have been sent to the interior of Russia. Altogether they comprised nine Generals, 227 officers and 118,800 soldiers. In addition there were 6000 sick and wounded persons retained in the hospitals at Przemyśl includes more than 100 guns.

No Saloonkeeper on Board of Aldermen

ONE result of yesterday's election is that, for the first time in many years, there will not be a saloonkeeper in the city's law making body.
In the last House of Delegates, which officially expired with the old charter, there were five saloonkeepers. Earlier in the history of St. Louis the number of saloonkeepers in the Municipal Assembly often was larger than this.

The new saloonkeeper who ran for the Board of Aldermen yesterday was Patrick J. Rohan, Democratic candidate in the Fourth Ward. He was defeated by William F. Otto, the Republican candidate, a deputy under Charles F. Joy, Recorder of Deeds.

HAIR FROM WIG ACTRESS WORE LAST TIME ON STAGE STOLEN

Mrs. Theresa Pohl Robbed of Red Lock and Jewel-Studded Bracelet, an Heirloom.
An heirloom, a handmade bracelet studded with jewels, which had been in the family about 50 years, was taken by daylight burglars from the apartment suite of Mrs. Theresa Pohl, 4000 Forest Park boulevard, in the absence of the family yesterday afternoon.

The burglars also took, among other articles, an antique locket containing some hair clipped from a red wig which Mrs. Pohl wore when she played with Constantine Crawley, an actress. The wig was worn by Mrs. Pohl on the occasion of her last appearance on the stage. The bracelet held a picture of Mrs. Pohl's father, Ferdinand Overstolz, whose brother was Mayor of St. Louis.

Mrs. Pohl is a teacher in the medical branch of Washington University, and her daughter, Elsa Pohl, is a physical instructor at Soldan High School. The stolen jewels were valued at about $1000.

$1.50 PROFIT ON EACH $50 BUY-A-BALE PURCHASE

Persons Who Subscribed to Cotton Fund to Help Planters Notified of Their Gain.
Persons who subscribed to the buy-a-bale-of-cotton fund at a time when it was thought necessary to adopt unusual methods to protect the price of cotton out from export, received a letter from George W. Simmons, treasurer of the fund, yesterday, informing them that they had made a profit of $1.50 on each $50 invested, owing to the improved condition of the cotton market.

The movement started in August. All the cotton was purchased in St. Louis. In December the committee in charge returned 50 per cent of the money subscribed and the letter of the committee advised all subscribers that checks for the remainder plus the dividend will be mailed upon receipt of the certificates of purchase.

WOMAN, 89, WALKS TO POLLS

Mrs. Christiana Straube, 89 years old, walked to the polls in Alton yesterday and cast her vote for Edmund Beall, the successful candidate for Mayor upon the Democratic ticket.
She said that she always had been interested in elections and was glad when in Illinois had gained the right of suffrage. She added that she intended to do her duty as a citizen as long as she should live.

LONDON, April 7.—The King's interest in boxing was again shown Monday evening, when His Majesty permitted the championships of the Surrey Infantry Brigade, now quartered at Windsor, to take place in the Royal Riding School at Windsor Castle.

BUGGY WHEELS ROLLED OUT OF BLAZING PLANT

Employees Save Large Part of 80,000 Stored in the Western Works.

BENZINE TANKS EXPLODE
Rear Walls Are Blown Down and Wires Broken; Three Workmen Rescued.

Employees of the Western Wheel Works, Third and Lombard streets, organized themselves into a wheel-rolling brigade when the plant caught fire at 8:30 o'clock this morning. They saved part of the stock of 80,000 buggy wheels, by rolling them hoop fashion out of the building into Third street and across the street to a vacant lot.

Skill in the handling of the wheels enabled the employees to roll them out at great speed without getting in each other's way and without confusion. For half an hour there was an endless procession of wheels rolling out through the front doorways of the building, guided by the hands of the employees, each of whom ran back into the building for another wheel as soon as he had sent one out.

The fire burned furiously, because of the inflammable character of the building's contents, and the firemen called out by a general alarm had a hard fight to prevent it spreading.

Three employees, who went back into the building to save their street clothes, became confused on the smoke-filled second floor and were rushing about in danger of being overcome, when firemen found them and assisted them to a fire escape, down which they went to the street.

Explosion on Third Floor.
Half an hour after the fire started the flames spread from the rear to the front of the building. There was an explosion and flames burst from the roof. Firemen at work on the second floor dropped their hose and slid down the ladders, expecting the walls to collapse, but returned a little later and rescued the hose. The danger was so great, however, that they did not again venture into the front part of the upper floors.

At about 10 o'clock a triangular section of the rear wall fell, carrying with it tons of burning fragments of buggy wheels. The debris filled the alley.

The firemen prevented the flames from spreading to great quantities of lumber stored in a vacant lot to the north of the building.

During the early part of the fire a flock of about 10 wild geese, flying northward, was thrown into confusion by the column of smoke. The fowls rose to a greater height and separated into two columns, one of which passed over each side of the smoke, coming together again farther north.

Three hundred barrels of flour, stored in the warehouse of the Saxony Milling Co., across the alley from the wheel works, were damaged by water.

There were frequent explosions of benzine, used in the preparation of paints, and an hour after the fire started a section of the alley wall, 80 feet long, from the second floor to the roof, fell outward. The danger of this had been foreseen and the firemen had been withdrawn from the alley and nobody was hurt.

WILLARD DECLARES HE'LL NEVER AGAIN FACE NEGRO BOXER

Champion Says He Has Always Been Opposed to Mixed Racial Contests.

JOHNSON IS DOWNCAST
Promoters Unable to Agree With Him Concerning the Sale of Movie Rights.

By Herbert B. Swope.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
(Copyright, 1914, by Press Pub. Co.)
HAYANA, April 7.—Joe Willard, the man who ended the white hope business, left here this morning in a special boat to take him to a special train which will hurry him in triumph to New York, with stops en route to receive the homage of the people. Willard is more than champion of the world; he is one of those rare mortals who accomplishes in life what he sets out to do.

"How did I happen to go into boxing," he said to me today. "Why I never had any thought of it until Johnson beat Jeffries at Reno, five years ago. I was a big strong fellow, not afraid of much. I always had been a pretty fair athlete and I kind of thought I'd like to try the negro to see if I couldn't bring back the championship to the whites. I never had even seen a boxing match then. I was living in Kansas and they don't believe in boxing there. I moved down to Oklahoma and saw Carl Morris fight four and a half years ago. It didn't look hard to me and I started sparring and got on some matches. All the time I kept one idea in my head, to go after Johnson and lick him."

"Well, I've done it and I'm pretty happy. Johnson was the first negro I ever fought and I'll never fight another. Yes, I'm going to draw the color line and draw it sharp. I think it dangerous for white and black to meet in a contest causing such bitterness of feeling. Why, when Jeffries was beaten in Reno in the riots following there were 26 people killed in the United States."

Willard was never knocked down in his four and a half years in the ring or in training. He hopes to end his career with the same record. He's so well put together he doesn't look 6 feet 5 1/2 inches. He has a thin, keen face, dark in color, gray eyes shaded by long lashes, a high forehead, wavy black hair parted on the side. He has a sensitive mouth and a well turned chin. He doesn't look the prize fighter, he doesn't act one nor are his instincts those of a fighter.

In fact, he has more the appearance of a school teacher. He has a hard to arouse his fighting spirit; that he's too much inclined to take things easy and not hurt the other fellow.

He had a common school education in Kansas with a year in high school, then punched cattle for a couple of years, leaving that to go in horse and mule handling. He was a good man at this and made enough to marry and keep a family in comfort. He has three children, three girls and a boy, Jess, junior, 4 months old. The eldest is 7 years old. His wife and children now live in Los Angeles. Willard is soft spoken and was good plain English. He thinks who he beats a slight resemblance, is his equal.

W. C. T. U. URGES APPOINTMENT OF AT LEAST 6 POLICEWOMEN

President McPheters of Police Board Says the Question Will Be Considered.
The Federated W. C. T. U. of St. Louis, of which Mrs. F. H. Ingalls is president, has sent a resolution to the Police Board, urging the appointment of at least six policewomen in St. Louis for night and day service at Union Station, McKinley Station, public dance halls, amusement parks and gardens.

President McPheters of the Police Board today said the board had written to about 20 cities which have policewomen, and is receiving answers about the efficiency of their work. He said that after the law permitting Missouri women becomes effective the board will consider the question. Such appointment, he said, is left to the discretion of the Police Board and is not mandatory. The board can increase its appropriation for expenses to any amount it wishes.

3 MORE COUNTIES IN ILLINOIS VOTE OUT LAST SALOONS

55 of 102-Are Now Dry, Bryan's Birthplace Being Won by Prohibitionists.

CHICAGO, April 7.—A total of 55 out of 102 counties in Illinois are entirely dry today, three new counties—Marion, Franklin and Jasper—having been added to the dry column in yesterday's local option election, when the saloons which remained in some townships were voted out. Salem, birthplace of Secretary of State Bryan, is the county seat of Marion; Benton of Franklin, and Newton of Jasper.

About 100 saloons were voted out of business in the 55 involved in 45 townships. The chief dry victory was in Centralia, which has been wet for 60 years. Thirty-eight saloons were voted out there.

In Wisconsin cities, towns and villages which voted on the liquor question yesterday showed a gain for the dry forces in the number of towns gained, but the larger cities voting on the issue—Madison, Superior, Ashland and Beloit—remained in the wet column. Nineteen cities and towns which formerly were wet went dry, while only four villages, which were dry, went over to the saloon forces.

FREDERICK NOT TO BE FOUND BY REPORTERS

Attempt to Get Views of President of Aldermen Fails at Office and His Home.

Reporters this morning were unable to find A. H. Frederick, who yesterday was elected President of the Board of Aldermen, at his office or his residence, to obtain a statement of his plans and his views of the election.

At Frederick's office an employee said he had not appeared and that nothing had been heard from him. A woman at his residence said over the telephone that he was not at home, and that she did not know where he could be found. The efforts to see Frederick were made to obtain his explanation of his failure to run up with the other candidates on the Republican ticket, and to get a statement of the policy he would pursue of president of the board, in carrying out the provisions of the new charter.

KITCHENER NAMES COMMITTEE TO MOBILIZE WAR INDUSTRIES

George Macaulay Booth, Leading Steamship Man, Is Placed at Its Head.
LONDON, April 7.—The War Office announced last night that Lord Kitchener had appointed a committee to take necessary steps to provide such additional labor as may be required to make certain that the supplies of munitions of war shall be sufficient to meet all requirements.

Lord Kitchener has appointed George Macaulay Booth, son of the Right Hon. Charles Booth, to take charge of the committee. Booth is a partner in the big ship-owning firm of A. Booth & Co. and a director in the Booth Steamship and other companies. It is rumored he will be elected a director of the Bank of England to replace the late Charles Herman Goehen, and it is presumed will be chairman of Kitchener's committee. The Times and other newspapers assume that he is the "strong business man" whom David Lloyd-George, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, fore-shadowed in the Government scheme to mobilize the industrial resources of the country.

FREDERICK RAN 7500 VOTES BEHIND LEADER OF TICKET

Only Two Candidates for Alderman Lower Than Himself on Republican List

NO DEMOCRAT WITHIN 18,000 VOTES OF ELECTION

Dan C. Nugent Jr. Polls Largest Democratic Vote—Republicans Elect All Members of School Board—First Time One Party Has Controlled Entire Legislative Body.

The entire Republican city ticket, including the president and 28 members of the newly created Board of Aldermen, was elected yesterday by landslide pluralities ranging from 18,000 to 38,000.

A. H. Frederick, Republican, defeated Francis M. Curlee, Democrat, for president of the Board of Aldermen by a plurality of 22,400. Frederick ran 7570 votes behind the highest man on the Republican ticket, Luke E. Hart, candidate for Alderman in the Twenty-eighth Ward, who received 68,659 votes, a plurality of 38,209 over Henry S. Hartzog, his Democratic opponent. Only two Republicans, W. C. McChesney and Edward Scholl, ran behind Frederick.

Eugene B. Gregory, for Alderman in the Nineteenth Ward, was the second man on the Republican ticket, with 68,504 votes, a plurality of 34,164 over C. C. Meek.

Dan C. Nugent Jr., in the Seventeenth Ward, was the high man on the Democratic ticket, getting 18,000 votes, and falling of election by a plurality of 18,597 in favor of William C. McChesney, Republican. Michael Deck, in the Second Ward, was second among the Democrats, with 3,914 votes. Curlee, for president, was third, with 8,869.

Nugent, Deck, Hart and Gregory were all on the blacklist of the so-called Independent Voters' League, because of their religious belief. Hart and Gregory were the only Republicans who were blacklisted by the I. V. L. in its sample ballot, which was put out, in the form of a yellow handbill, a few days before election. Curlee was also blacklisted by this organization, because of his refusal to join in the politico-religious boycott program.

Under the system of voting established by the new charter, the voters of all wards voted on aldermanic candidates from every ward, so that the vote on all candidates is, for purposes of comparison, on the same basis.

Under the system of voting established by the new charter, the voters of all wards voted on aldermanic candidates from every ward, so that the vote on all candidates is, for purposes of comparison, on the same basis.

The Aldermen elected to represent the First, Third and other odd-numbered wards will serve two years, and those representing the Second, Fourth and other even-numbered wards will serve four years. Beginning with 1917, all Aldermen will be elected for four years, those from odd-numbered wards being elected on the ticket with the Mayor and Comptroller, and those from the even-numbered wards being elected in the middle of the Mayor's term.

The new Aldermen will qualify within the next two weeks, and the board's first meeting will be held Tuesday, April 20, unless the Mayor should, by proclamation, convene it before that time. The board will, at its first meeting, elect a secretary, from its own membership, and a clerk and other employees from outside its membership. The salary of the President of the Board is $3000 a year and the salaries of Aldermen $1800 each. Members, except the President, will be fined $10 for every meeting they miss.

Democrats Failed to Vote.
The returns show that the Republicans cast their normal vote, but that the Democrats failed to vote. The Republican organization was active in every precinct in yesterday's election, but the Democratic organization was indifferent, having made practically no campaign. In many wards the candidates nominated by the Democratic Business Men's Conference were knifed by the ward politicians, who centered their efforts on the five or six candidates which they succeeded in nominating in the primary election.

tion, Kiel polled 5,096 votes, and Simon, Democrat, 5,411, for mayor. The Socialist and Progressive polled nearly 11,000. The slump in yesterday's Democratic vote is shown by comparing Curlew's 5,539 with Simon's 5,411. Frederick, with 6,109 votes, outran Kiel by almost 600, but Kiel had a Progressive opponent, who polled 485 votes, while there was no Progressive ticket yesterday.

This great decrease in the vote was shown despite the fact that the election of the first Board of Aldermen under the new charter was considered of the greatest importance. Political and civic leaders called attention repeatedly to the importance of the election, as the personnel of the Board of Aldermen likely would make or mar the new city charter.

SENATOR HAWKINS TELLS OF 4 MEN IN PRISON RINGS

Found When Chairman and Three Investigators Called at Missouri Penitentiary.

HANDS HIGH ABOVE HEADS

Convicts' Offenses, as He Recalls, Were Trivial; One Could Not Finish Task.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

KENNETT, Mo., April 7.—Senator Charles P. Hawkins, chairman of the special committee of Senators appointed to investigate penitentiary conditions, today gave to a Post-Dispatch reporter a description of the hanging up of four convicts by their wrists in dark cells of the Missouri penitentiary, three weeks ago. Hawkins branded the mode of punishment as "inhuman," and said that the brute force which characterized the system with which the Missouri prison for many years has been conducted, "and as a system of punishment not calculated to improve the convicts."

Three of the convicts whose punishment was witnessed by Hawkins were white men not more than 25 years old. The fourth was a negro. Puller in Task, Only Offense.

"The inquiry made by Senators Casey, Kinney and Brogan, who accompanied me to the prison," said Hawkins, "elicited the information from one of the white youths that the only offense for which he was being punished was that he had failed, through physical inability, to complete the task set for him under the contract labor system."

Prison officials have reported that the system of stringing up convicts for infractions of the prison rules had practically been abolished since the exposure of the brutal punishment of the convict Willis some months ago. Hawkins' revelations of the sight he witnessed was startling, he said, to himself and the Senators who accompanied him.

Hawkins said: "As I walked out of the Capitol after the morning session of the Senate one day about a week or two ago, Senators Kinney, Brogan and Casey, who were standing near an automobile in front of the Capitol, asked me to take a ride. I did not know where we were going."

"We reached the penitentiary. Kinney said that he had received private information that a St. Louis firm in whom he was interested was being 'strung up,' and he wanted to investigate it."

"We went immediately to the punishment hall. The guard at the door, although he knew who we were, stopped us and said that we could not enter the building."

"It would be all my job's worth if I let you in there now," he said. "Admitted to Punishment Hall."

"I replied: 'You might get a job some place else. It is pretty sure to cost you your job if you don't let us in.' He then went to a telephone or speaking tube and called up somebody for instructions. Within a minute we were taken into the building."

"We found four cells occupied. I should say each of the cells was about three feet wide and four feet long, possibly eight feet high. They had no light except as entered through the heavily grated steel door. Each cell was about big enough to put a hog in, if you didn't want him to turn around."

"To the great door of each of the four cells a man was strung up. He was handcuffed, with his hands stretched above his head so high that he barely could rest his feet on the floor. None of the men seemed to be pulled to tips."

"The three white men were young, none more than 25. One young fellow, who appeared to be 20 or 21, was in great pain and continually twisted his body about in an effort to gain some ease or rest, but there was none for him."

"Considered Offenses Trivial." "These white men, in reply to our questions, told us why they were being punished. I do not recall the reasons given, except the youth I have just mentioned, but I do remember that at the time I considered the offenses trivial."

"The one youth said to Senator Kinney: 'Mister, I haven't done anything but be tortured this way. I did my best, but I couldn't do all the work they gave me to do. I just couldn't do it.'"

"The man Kinney thought was in the ring was not there, but Kinney took great interest in the men there. We said nothing about the matter at the time because we were trying to get through the Legislature bills to improve penitentiary conditions, and we did not want to encounter any more bitter opposition from prison authorities than we were having, and we feared that if we made this public we would arouse their antagonism to even a greater extent than was being shown."

"I believe the bill abolishing contract labor and transferring juvenile offenders to a reformatory at Booneville will greatly improve conditions. The Missouri penitentiary system is a relic of days of barbarism. I have nothing to say against the prison officers, and what I say is against the system. If brute force and demoralizing treatment of convicts is the proper system of conducting a penitentiary, the Missouri prison is a great success, but I do not believe that is the proper system."

Hopes for Reform Bills. "The committee will continue its efforts to get legislation for better conditions. Many of our bills failed this time, but we are going to keep right on. 'Speaking for the entire committee, I can say that its members have no personal grievance or complaint against the prison officers, but we feel and believe that the present mode of punishment should be changed and modified along humane lines. Men Knightly in Attention to Women Voters in East St. Louis, Says Marguerite Martyn

Some Suffragists Complained of Too Much Courtesy

TIMES HAVE CHANGED SINCE THE DAYS WHEN WOMEN WERE THE PLEASERS FOR THE BALLOT.

No Danger of Contamination at Polls Found—Secret Ballot Protects Feminine Voter's Secret Unless She Picked Winner.

By Marguerite Martyn.

FEARS that gentle womanhood may be contaminated by contact with gross elements at the polls may as well be abandoned as an argument against suffrage, if yesterday's events in East St. Louis were any indication. That the ballot is to be a great regenerator of politeness in the sterner toward the gentler sex was noticeable.

And scarcely could a better place in which to test this point be chosen, if all we hear of rough-and-tumble politics just beyond our eastern frontier is true. Never were ladies more deferentially treated by courteous gentlemen, whether the lady appeared in greasy calico house dress belted down solely by kitchen-apron strings, and with sleeves rolled up and shawl overhead, whether she wore Easter bonnet and gown of latest mode, whether she was black or white and whether the gentleman was as well as he looked, or the civic reformer familiar at polling places on election day.

More than one beery-breathed, unsteady, uncouth individual assumed an expression almost benign as he rushed forward to greet me, a prospective voter, as he thought, proffering every manner of assistance and escort to the tyro at casting a ballot.

Right this way, lady. Don't be backward. Clear out of the way, you loafers. Here's a lady wants to vote," said one as he handed me gracefully into a barber shop door.

But alas, I was not a voter, only an onlooker at the triumph of womanhood to me, and yet so far from it, just across the river, but in a state where women are almost emancipated.

It was said to see, not only in my case but in others, so much politeness going to waste. There were women who were not even satisfied—actually complaining that knightly attentions were being overdone.

"There have been half a dozen autos here to take me to the polls. I told the first party I didn't intend to vote. Now I am tired of being bothered." Bang! went the door.

This was the sort of thing that greeted one humble and solicitous workman as he endeavored to place at the disposal of a woman whose name was registered a luxurious limousine.

Coy and condescending—why, the ladies we read of in tales of days of chivalry were not a circumstance to some of the way they were being courted, favored, carried to the polls on cushions late in the afternoon.

Joining one scouting party rounding up tardy voters, we drew up in our touring car at a tiny cottage in an obscure street.

should manage the prison and every other penal institution for reformation, and not by personal grievance or punishment."

Warden McClung Denies Knowing That Convicts Were in Rings. JEFFERSON CITY, April 7.—Warden D. C. McClung of the penitentiary, when asked for details of the punishment of prisoners who were seen in the rings by Hawkins, said that he was not the person who had punished them, and that he knew nothing about the case. He said Deputy Warden Gilvin was the only officer who would have the information.

Gilvin was not at the prison when the reporter called there April 7. Two weeks ago, when asked about the truth of a rumor that men were in the rings, he replied that he didn't know anything about it.

Former Mansfield Manager Dies. CHICAGO, April 7.—Lymon B. Glover, one-time manager for Richard Mansfield, died here last night. He was operated on for the removal of a carbuncle and did not regain his strength. Glover, who was 49 years old, had been general manager of the Kohn and Castle theatrical interests in Chicago. For many years he was dramatic critic here.

Evidences of spring cleaning were everywhere about. In costume appropriate to the occasion, the mistress of the house appeared. "I've already voted. Drive on," she commanded.

Strange—her name had not been switched off our list, but we didn't argue. The manner in which she picked up a bucket of suds and turned her back on us was too decisive.

4200 Women Registered; and About 3900 Voted SOME 4200 women were registered and about 3900 voted, the returns show. It may be that, rising rather late upon the scene and joining expeditions headed by the most zealous women workers at getting out the vote, I had occasion to note the exceptional cases.

It was early in the morning that, accompanied by the head of the household, to which they belonged as wife, daughter, kinwoman or servant, most of the women voted dutifully and obediently as they were instructed to do. It was assured by most of the challengers around the polls.

Happily the secret ballot box holds fast the secret of how many cases there were of disobedience, how many causes for family desertion. That is, unless the woman picked a winner and the man a loser—in that case I don't believe the secret is intact. But we can leave it to the ants to unearth all the cases of family estrangement due to the election.

That extra efforts had to be used before most of the registered women were induced to come out, may have been due to an unusual situation, one that may make this election not typical of those that are to follow when women get fully into the swing of things.

It develops that there were no issues at stake of particular interest to women. Before the primaries, when women registered voluntarily in large numbers, there was a reform candidate in the field, H. B. Carson. He had promised a clean-up administration, elimination of gambling, illegal liquor traffic and general lawlessness that has flourished in a locality known as "the valley."

Some misconstruction of new primary laws early eliminated Mr. Carson, and so it happened that many women who had registered subsequently lost interest. It is true the remaining candidates for mayor were quick to appropriate planks of the Carson platform, but even some of the most active workers of the Civic Federation, whether rustling votes for Chamberlin or Folliott, admitted they were but making the best of their disappointment.

Other women who had found it easy enough to register, as the campaign advanced and personalities became rife.

FOOD MADE OF STRAW AND BARK

German Inventor Says Skins and Feelings May Be Made Edible.

BERLIN, April 7.—Dr. Hans Friedenthal, inventor of a new process for converting straw into food, both for human beings and animals, has now, according to Vorwarts, made the announcement that all nonpoisonous substances, including skins, peellings and the bark of trees, may be converted into wholesome eating matter for man. If thoroughly disintegrated and properly treated.

Dexter Water Works Meet Test. DEXTER, Mo., April 7.—An engineering company of St. Louis completed yesterday its final tests on the municipal waterworks plant constructed for the city. The plant measured up to the contract standard in every particular and was accepted by the city.

Men Out of Work Break Windows. VANCOUVER, B. C., April 7.—Fifty hundred men who failed to get further relief work from the city council, last night attacked several residences, breaking windows and carrying away fruit. The police arrested five men and a mounted force dispersed the other.

having friends on both tickets, found it difficult to discriminate and hesitated to show their political colors by riding to the polls in a vehicle flaunting the banner of one ticket or the other.

"I'm sorry I registered," said one woman at her front door. "If I voted for Fred Lehman I'd only be voting against Bob Thomas, and I've known both of them since they were little boys and like one as much as the other. Could I scratch both of them? Well, I've changed my mind about voting, anyway."

And if that were not enough to close the argument, she closed the door. "I'm Not Dressed; Will You Wait or Come Back?"

THE most frequent excuse, the most natural and trivial and easiest to surmount, it seemed to me, but the one which most exasperated the men, was:

"I'm not dressed yet. Will you just wait or will you come back for me in an hour and a half?"

Ward captains in charge of automobiles kept engagement lists as well as the registration lists.

Not all the women came in the gaily decorated motor cars. Where precincts were small there was often not even an excuse for putting on one's hat.

A speed record may have been established by a Mrs. Kuresey, whose flat is upstairs in a polling place, and who put her kettle on the stove, voted and returned to her kitchen before the water had boiled.

Mrs. Unruh, president of the Schubert Club, was one who positively evaded the question of her vote, and who was changed for an auto ride. She preferred to walk several blocks to the polls.

On the other hand, a woman visiting at a house a long distance from the ward in which she was registered told us she would vote if we would take her out to her precinct, although she hadn't intended to vote. So she had a nice long ride.

Among the women who should feel well repaid for their presence at the polls, the victory of their candidate, Mrs. M. B. Mann, president of the Civic Federation; Mrs. Willis Smith, Mrs. Withnell and Mrs. Carson, the same whose husband withdrew his candidacy.

The candidates' wives and women relatives were conspicuous for their absence at the polls, but I was told of numerous inconspicuous ways of getting the voters out.

Mrs. Elizabeth McGlynn sat at a telephone in her brother's office as long as the polls were open. The Chamberlin telephone responded only with the busy signal. Mrs. Molman also, so she told me, spent the day directing by wire the movements of three automobiles in charge of women friends.

New Mayor's Wife Helps Him in Business

THE wife of the new Mayor of East St. Louis is not a club woman, not even a member of the Civic Federation. You'd take her for a home woman, with a normal fondness for society, and friends and pretty clothes. I am told, though, that she devotes much of her time to her husband's business, having a desk of her own at his harness factory.

HOW TO STOP DANDRUFF AND LOSS OF HAIR

Here is a simple, inexpensive treatment that will almost always stop the hair thick, live and lustre. At night, spread the hair apart and rub a little resinol ointment into the scalp gently, with the tip of the finger. Repeat this until the whole scalp has been treated. Next morning, shampoo thoroughly with resinol soap and hot water. Work the creamy resinol lather well into the scalp. Rinse with gradually cooler water, the last water being cold. Resinol ointment and resinol soap easily heal eczema and similar skin eruptions. Prescribed by physicians for 20 years, sold by all druggists. For trial free, write to Dept. 11-B, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

RICH SHOULD LEAVE AID FOR THE POOR, SAYS DR. BITTING

"You Can't Die Decently, if You Have Wealth, Without Remembering the Needy."

"FILTER TAINTED MONEY"

Minister Says Men With Illegal Gain Should Repent by Giving It to the People.

"The time has come when you cannot die decently, if you have any wealth, without making some adequate provision for your brothers in need."

This declaration was made last night at the Mercantile Club by the Rev. Dr. W. C. Bitting, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, Kings highway and Washington avenue, in his speech before 250 churchmen at a dinner given by the Church Federation of St. Louis. To a Post-Dispatch reporter today Dr. Bitting amplified his views.

"No man who accumulates a fortune does so entirely by his own efforts," Dr. Bitting said. "Robinson Crusoe could never have become a multimillionaire. Social relations are essential to the creation of wealth. A man's connections with his fellow men furnish him with opportunities for the acquisition of wealth. In very many cases he richly deserves the material prosperity that he secures because he has rendered services to his community and to human welfare for which money is the expression of appreciation."

Give While Alive, Ideal Way. "Nevertheless, even in such cases, every man owes to his fellow men at large service beyond that which he has rendered in commercial ways. More and more our noblest men of wealth are coming to appreciate this fact and are considering their private fortunes as in large measure trusts which they are to administer for public good."

"It is a matter of rejoicing that, as new before in the history of the world, so many of these men are both moralizing and socializing their fortunes. 'The ideal way is for men of wealth to give their money while they live. Where this is not possible the next best thing is to leave at least a part of their fortunes to the people when they die.'

Man's Duty to the Public. "The feeling is well-nigh universal that no man does his duty to the public who leaves a vast estate to his own legal heirs and absolutely nothing for the comfort and welfare of the millions who have helped to create his fortune."

"In case where a man makes his fortune by unethical means or dishonest practices, or by engaging in occupations which are socially repulsive, such as the liquor business, the only way he can filter his tainted money is to give it to the people at large."

"It would be a sublime sight if men who have thus acquired money would exhibit to the people repentance before they die by such an effort to be constructive in place of destructive. But if repentance can be secured in this financial way, only through legacies, it had better take place then than not at all."

Dr. Bitting, in his speech before the Church Federation, said he knew that he had been "sent to hell" by Billy Sunday for believing in the modern method of interpreting the Bible. "But I won't go there merely on Billy's say-so," he added. "He can damn me as he wants to, but if Billy Sunday will come to St. Louis and change the evil ways of men, as I saw him do in Philadelphia, he can curse me as much as he pleases."

'THEATRICAL TRUST' INQUIRY

NEW YORK, April 7.—Claude A. Thompson, Special Attorney-General, continued today his examination of the theatrical managers and booking agents in the Federal inquiry into the conduct of the so-called "Theatrical Trust." "The inquiry has taken note particularly of the conditions in the Northwestern and Southern circuits. None of the attorneys engaged in the investigation in behalf of the Government would say today whether civil or criminal proceedings were contemplated."

GERMAN MASTERY OF DYE PRODUCTS WON IN 50 YEARS

J. J. Kessler, Consulting Chemist, Cites This as Reason for Color Scarcity.

RAW MATERIAL IS COAL

Years Would Be Required to Duplicate Plants for Manufacture in America.

Just why the blockade of German ports has driven the color red from the market, and is fast driving out blue and black and increasing the cost of many dyes hundreds of fold, besides threatening to cause the closing of 400 textile mills, was explained to a Post-Dispatch reporter today by J. J. Kessler, a widely-known consulting chemist, with offices in the Railway Exchange Building.

He said that Great Britain is feeling the same pinch as the United States, and that it appears certain that, if the war continues and the blockade is not raised, the people outside of Germany can get ready for white hats, white shoes and white everything else. This he said, is not due to any particular secret possessed by the Germans, and, excepting in some unimportant instances, it is not due to any particular product that is found only in Germany.

"To put it in a nutshell, the Germans, by years and years of work, have completely mastered coal, and other nations have not," said the chemist. "Many persons have the impression that the famous German dyes come from petroleum products," he continued. "This impression is entirely incorrect. The dyes and many of the chemicals and drugs with which Germany has been supplying the world all come from coal."

"This being true, it would seem that America should be able to manufacture these dyes easily. As a matter of fact, it is the most impossible thing in the world to duplicate, upon a large scale, within a number of years, the result Germany has achieved by 50 years of constant experiment. A multitude of other products must be made before the materials for the different dyes are evolved. The cost would be tremendous, and the operating cost would be a dead loss when brought into competition with Germany's dyes of the war. England has set aside $15,000,000 for an effort to produce a plant which may replace the German dye."

Kessler said that benzol, one of the products from distilling coal, is at the basis of the manufacture of special German products. In addition to benzol, the Germans obtain from the distillation of coal beta naphthol, carbolic acid, ammonia, perfumes, aspirin, phenacetin, acetanilid and all of wintergreen.

German Control Carbolic Acid. The German control of carbolic acid, he said, is shown by the fact that the price has jumped from 45 cents to $1.50 a pound in the crystallized state and that little can be obtained at any price.

From the foundation, benzol, the Germans make many of their high-power explosives. In developing their dye, the benzol has to be transformed to nitrobenzol, then to aniline and then through several other processes, each one of which must be conducted economically and upon a large scale, in order to obtain the final dyestuff. In addition to their monopoly of chemists experienced in these processes, Kessler said that the Germans' practical monopoly of potash has been of great aid to them in holding the drug and dye business.

No more red ink or red paint is being manufactured in America at present, according to manufacturers' agents here, and the small supplies on hand are being retained at advanced prices for regular customers while no new orders are accepted.

Charles Enay Johnson, manager of Theodore J. Harding & Co., said that red is the only color that is troubling the manufacturers of printers' inks at present, but there is a rapidly increasing shortage in blue ink and in some kinds of black. He said that some of the largest manufacturers have announced an increase in prices during the last week and that red is out of the market.

Scarcity of Beta Naphthol. The material so vital to reds is beta naphthol, a by-product of coal tar, which has come exclusively from Germany. This can be made in America, but to be profitable a vast plant is required and it would require more than one year to establish one.

Law Brouwer, secretary of the Platt & Thornburg Paint Co., said that America will have no more blue ink for schoolhouses for some time. He said no more red can be made until a supply of beta naphthol can be obtained and no orders are being taken from new customers for the small remaining stock in the hands of dealers. Prussian blue is also becoming scarce and the price has advanced 50 per cent. Beta naphthol is also needed in automobile and carriage paints.

T. A. Goodman of the Renovare laboratories said that the lack of beta naphthol is not the only danger of a disturbance to many lines of trade in which chemicals are needed. Hydrogen peroxide has doubled in price, he said, because of a scarcity of barium, which formerly was so cheap it was sent to Germany as ballast. The supply of barium in America, he said, is rapidly disappearing.

HER APRIL FOOL JOKE STARTED HEATED ROW

MISS EDNA B. PHILLIPS.

Woman Who Ate Latter Has to Consult Doctor; Then Husband Swears at Giver.

Some learned Illinois Judge before long may be called upon to hand down a decision upon the following hypothetical question:

Suppose Miss A. gives Mrs. B. an April Fool cookie stuffed with cayenne pepper, whereby Mrs. B. is severely pained; suppose that Mrs. B.'s husband goes to Miss A. and gives her a first-class "cussing"; is a $5 fine on B's confession of guilt adequate, on the theory that Mrs. B.'s physical anguish is in part compensation for the "cussing" mental suffering, or should B. be soaked the limit for saying swear words to a lady?

This intricate proposition is expected to come up on appeal from the judgment of a Granite City Justice of the Peace. The "cussing" is Miss Edna B. Phillips, manager of the Tri-City Credit Co., and the "cussing" is J. E. Roach, a Granite City telegraph operator.

How Trouble Came About. Although every effort was made to keep the trouble between Miss Phillips and Roach secret—the Justice hearing the latter's plea of guilt and assessing a $5 fine at a special hearing in an office building—the story got out.

Until April 1 Miss Phillips and Roach's wife were dear friends. They saw each other daily, so when Mrs. Roach appeared that day with a telegram, Miss Phillips seized it eagerly. After indulging in the customary feminine speculation as to who in the world could be sending her a telegram, Miss Phillips read it. It was an April Fool joke and both women laughed.

As Mrs. Roach was about to depart, Miss Phillips suddenly remembered a bag of cookies she had just received and offered one to her caller. They were small and Mrs. Roach put one into her mouth.

At first Mrs. Roach tried to conceal from her friend that the pepper with which it was loaded was burning her. She wished to be "game" so the friend would think there was some mistake. But the pepper was too hot and finally Mrs. Roach had to seek the services of a physician.

Husband Is Indignant. When her husband learned of the trick he called upon Miss Phillips. After he had gotten out of his system some thoughts that were as peppery as the cakes he departed. Miss Phillips got a warrant for him. After hearing both sides of the story, Justice Sewell imposed a $5 fine.

Miss Phillips was indignant at the small penalty. The Judge, however, told her that he had figured something off for what Mrs. Roach had endured. Miss Phillips then declared she would take the matter to a higher court.

OFFICIAL REVIEW HOLDS THAT GERMANY HAS REACHED MAXIMUM EFFORT

History of War Declares Lack of Munitions and Men on Teutonic Side Is Evident, While French Are in Excellent Condition.

THE Post-Dispatch today presents three additional installments of the French official review of the war obtained by the Associated Press bureau in London. These installments deal with material, artillery, transport and supplies, the situation of the German army and with the losses among German officers and "the moral wastage of the German army." Previous installments were printed March 16, 27 and 28. It should be borne in mind that the review is from the French viewpoint.

Beginning with the field gun, the famous "seventy-five," the compiler of the report, after rehearsing the splendid quality of this weapon, its power, its rapidity of action and its precision, points out that it possesses a degree of strength and endurance which make it an implement of war of the first order. "It may be stated without hesitation," says the review, "that our 'seventy-five' guns are in as perfect condition today as they were on the first day of the war, although the use of them has exceeded all calculations. The consumption of projectiles was in fact so enormous as to cause for a moment an ammunition crisis, which, however, was completely overcome several weeks ago."

"The methodical and complete exploitation of all the resources of the country," continues the review, "organized since the beginning of the war, has enabled us to accumulate a considerable stock of fresh munitions and an interesting rate of production is henceforth assured. We are thus sure of being able to provide without particular effort for all the needs of the campaign, present and future, however long the war may last, and it is this certainty which has enabled us to supply projectiles to several of the allied armies, among others to the Serbian and Belgian armies. From the statements of German prisoners we have learned that the effectiveness of our new projectiles is superior to that of the old ones."

"Our heavy artillery was in process of reorganization when the war broke out, with the result that we were in a position of inferiority in respect of this arm during the first battles. But today the roles have been changed and our adversaries themselves acknowledge the superiority of our heavy artillery."

"The change has been brought about in various ways, partly by the intense activity of the cannon foundries, in new production, partly by the employment at the front of the enormous reserves of artillery preserved in the fortresses. The very large number of heavy guns at the front represents only a part of the total number available for use. There is an abundant stock of projectiles for the heavy artillery, which, as in the case of the field gun ammunition, is daily growing in importance. The same is true of the reserves of powder and other explosives and of all materials needed for the manufacture of shells."

"With regard to small arms, hand grenades, bombs and all the devices for life taking which the trench warfare at short distance has brought into use, the position of the French troops is in every way favorable."

There follows a passage on the development of the machine gun in this kind of warfare.

"Owing to the extended use of this weapon the number of them supplied to the various units has been appreciably increased," says the review. "Not only is each unit in possession of its full regulation complement of machine guns, but the number of these guns attached to each unit has been increased since the beginning of the war."

The report next passes to the transport service, which, it says, has worked with remarkable precision since the beginning of the war. This section of the review closes by referring to food supplies for the army which are described as abundant.

Condition of German Army.
In the seventh section, the official review turns to a discussion of the situation of the German army. Its first chapter, headed, "The German effort," opens with a statement as to the German forces at the commencement of the campaign. The writer says:

"The military effort of Germany at the outset of the campaign exceeded all anticipations. Her design was to crush the French army in a few weeks under a tremendous mass of troops. Nothing was neglected to bring that mass together."

"The number of German army corps in this of peace is 18. When the war began the German general staff put in the field on the two theaters of operations: (1) As fighting troops (active, reserve, or landwehr), 11 army corps; (2) as troops to guard communication and territory formation of the landwehr."

"In October six and a half new army corps made their appearance, plus a division of sailors, in all seven corps, from the end of November to the end of December there was only an insignificant increase, consisting of one division of sailors. In January, 1915, the number of fighting formation put into line by the German army was therefore 18 army corps, divided as follows:

"Active corps, 11.
"Reserve corps, 2 1/2.
"Landwehr brigades, 5 1/2.
"Reserve corps of new formation, 7 1/2.
"Corps of landwehr, 2 1/2."

"The immense effort thus made by Germany explains itself very well," says the writer, "if, having regard to the position of Germany at the opening of the war, one considers that of the allies. Germany desired to take advantage of the circumstances which enabled her to make a simultaneous mobilization of all her forces, a mobilization which the three allied armies could not carry out as rapidly. Germany wished with the mass of troops to crush first of all the adversary who appeared to her the most immediately dangerous. This effort, broken for the first time on the Marne, attained its maximum at the moment of the battle of Flanders, in which more than fifty army corps out of 80 were directed against the French, British and Belgian armies."

"Here also the method followed by (basic organization), she had undergone a wastage which her adversaries on the other hand, had been able to save themselves. She had, in the words of the proverb, put all her eggs in one basket, and in spite of her large population she could no longer, owing to the immediate and sterile abuse which she had made of her resources, pretend to regain the superiority of numbers. "She was reduced to facing as best she could on both war fronts the unceasing increasing forces of the allies. She had attained a maximum of tension, and had secured a minimum of results. She had thus landed herself in a difficulty which will henceforth go on increasing and which is made clear when the wastage which her army has suffered is closely studied. Chapter 2 of this section of the review bears the headline, "Wastage of German Effectiveness." "The wastage of effectiveness is easy to establish," it says. "We have for the purpose two sources, the official lists of losses published by the German general staff and the notebooks, letters and archives of soldiers and officers killed and taken prisoners. These definite documents show that by the middle of January the German losses on the two fronts were 1,800,000 men. "These figures are certainly less than

Tuxedo Keeps the World in Good Humor

Here is the man whose life work is to make millions of people happy. In pursuing his call, he travels the wide world over. He is a great lover of his pipe, and in all sorts of corners of the earth he has tried all sorts of tobaccos.

What is his unqualified statement in regard to Tuxedo? Read it again: "I've yet to find its equal." This is the frank and candid opinion of thousands and thousands of experienced, judicious smokers. Tuxedo is absolutely the best all-around tobacco that modern tobacco science can make.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Uncorking a tin of Tuxedo is like lifting the lid on concentrated sunshine. And then, when you fire up! Well! The first puff's a revelation, the second's a revolution, the third just gets you happy-like! Then you're off—just as sure as you'll see the green grass and hear the birds sing next Spring.

The exclusive "Tuxedo Process" brings out the unsurpassed mildness, delicate fragrance and mellow flavor of the Burley leaf in a way that has never been successfully imitated. At the same time it refines the tobacco until every trace of harshness and "bite" disappears.

the reality, because for one thing the sick are not comprised and for another the losses in the last battle in Poland are not included. Let us accept them, however; let us accept also that out of these 1,800,000 men, 500,000—the normal proportion—have been able to rejoin after being cured. Thus the final loss for five months of the campaign has been 1,300,000 men, or 280,000 men per month. The figures agree exactly with what can be ascertained when the variations of effectiveness in certain regiments are examined.

A gain of over 46,000 for the first
3 months of 1915

"It is certain that the majority of the German regiments have had to be completely renewed. What, then, is the situation created by these enormous losses?"

4,000,000 Men in January.
This question is answered by a statement headed "German Troops Available for 1915."

"The total of German formations known at the beginning of January," states the review, "represented in round numbers 4,000,000 men. According to the official reports on German recruiting, the entire resources of Germany in men amount to 9,000,000. But from these 9,000,000 have to be deducted men employed on railways, in the police and in certain administrations and industries, altogether 500,000 men. The total resources available for the war were, therefore, 8,500,000. Out of these about one-half, say 4,000,000, are now in the front. The definite losses represent at least 1,300,000 men. The available resources amounted, then, at the beginning of January to 3,200,000 men.

"Of what are these resources composed? Chiefly of men who were untrained in time of peace, the trained reservists having almost all left the depots for the front. It has, moreover, to be noted that out of these 3,200,000 men there are, according to the statistics, 500,000 who are more than 35 years of age and are, therefore, of only mediocre military value. Thus there remain 2,400,000. Finally, the category of the untrained in peace comprises, according to the estimates of German military authorities themselves, one-quarter of inefficiency.

"The really available resources capable of campaigning are therefore just 2,000,000 men. These men, comprising the 1915, 1916 and 1917 classes, called out in anticipation, constitute—and this point cannot be too strongly insisted—the total of available resources for the operations during the 12 months of 1915. As to what the military value of these troops will be considering the haste with which they have been trained, the formidable losses sustained in the battle of Flanders by the newly formed corps shows very clearly. Their military value will be limited.

"Resources Insufficient."
"When it is remembered that, according to the German documents themselves, the definite loss each month is 280,000 men, it is manifest that the available resources for the year 1915 will not suffice to fill the gaps of war of 10 months.

"It is then superabundantly established that in the matter of effectiveness Germany has reached the maximum of possible effort. If with the men at present available she creates, as it is certain that she is preparing to do at this moment, fresh formations, she will be preventing herself, from being able to complete afresh her old formations. If she creates no new formations she will have in 1915 exactly what is necessary and no more to complete the existing units afresh.

"Bearing in mind the ways of the German general staff, one may suppose that, disregarding the eventual impossibility of completing, it is still addressing itself to creating new formations. The weakness to which Germany will expose herself in the matter of effectiveness has just been set forth, and it is easy to show that this weakness will be still further aggravated by the wastage in the regimental cadres."

"The eighth installment of the review takes up the German losses of officers, the wastage of guns and projectiles and the moral wastage of the German army."

The chapter on losses of officers begins with the statement that conditions of the cadres or basic organizations in the German army is bad. The proportion of officers, and notably of officers by profession, has been reduced, it says, and a report made in December shows that of a total of 124 companies, active or reserve, there were only 49 officers of the active army.

The active regiments have at the present time, according to the review, an average of 18 professional officers, the reserve regiments, 9 to 10, the reserve regiments of new formation, 6 to 7, and it is to be remembered that these officers have to be drawn upon afresh for the creation of new units "if Germany creates new army corps and if the war lasts 10 months." It continues, "she will reduce almost to nothing the number of professional officers in each regiment, a number which already is very insufficient."

The French report points out that, on the other hand, all the French regiments have been constantly kept at a minimum figure of 18 professional officers per regiment. At the same time it admits that the commanders of German corps, commanders and active battalions and the officers attached to the commanders of army corps are officers by profession.

The French report then addresses itself to the wastage of material. Discussing the wastage of guns, it says:

"It is easy to ascertain the German losses in artillery. On Dec. 28 the Sixty-sixth Regiment of Artillery entrained at Courtrai, for Germany, 25 guns, of which it was used up. This figure is extremely high for a single regiment. The same facts have been ascertained as regards heavy artillery, which were no longer serviceable and which were sent to Cologne. These movements, which are not isolated facts, show how ill the German artillery has resisted the ordeal of the campaign.

"Other proofs, moreover, are decisive. For some weeks we have noted the very peculiar aspect of the markings in bands of a great number of shells of the 77 gun. When these markings are compared with those of shells fired three months ago it is plain beyond all question that the tubes are worn and that many of them require to be replaced.

Regiments Give Up Guns.
"This loss in guns is aggravated by the necessity which has arisen of drawing upon the original army corps for the guns assigned to the recently formed corps, or those in course of formation. Several regiments of field artillery have in fact had to give up two batteries.

"These two phenomena—wearing out of material and drafts upon batteries—will inevitably result either in the reduction of batteries from six to four guns, a reduction of the number of batteries in the army corps, or the partial substitution for 77 guns of nine-centimeter (3.5-inch) cannon of the old pattern, the presence of which has been many times resented at the front.

"Furthermore, the German artillery lacks and has lacked for a very long time munitions. It has been obliged to reduce its consumption of shells in a notable degree. No doubt is possible in this respect. The statements of prisoners since the battle of the Marne, and still more since the battle of the Yser, make it clear that the number of shots allowed to the batteries for each action is strictly limited. We have found on officers killed or taken prisoners the actual orders prescribing positively a strict economy of munitions.

"For the last three months, too, we notice that the quality of the projectiles is mediocre. Many of them do not

SOUTHERN GOVERNORS INVITED TO REUNION OF CONFEDERATES

Gathering in Richmond June 1 May Be Their Last in Their Old Capital.

RICHMOND, Va., April 7.—Invitations were on the way today to the Governors of the various Southern states and their staffs from Gov. Stuart of Virginia, asking them to attend what he declares may be the last reunion of Confederate veterans in the Confederate capital to be held here beginning June 1. Features of the gathering will include the dedication of the Confederate Memorial Institute, and the laying of the cornerstone of a monument to Gen. "Stonewall" Jackson.

"In all human probability," says the invitation, "this will be the last reunion of Confederate survivors to be held at the capital of the Confederacy. It is, therefore, all the more appropriate and seemly to have gathered here representative officials of all the Southern states as participants in an event which will particularly mark the pride we feel in our heroes, living and dead."

FIRE SCARE AT EXPOSITION

Preliminary Test for Panama Fair Celebration Causes Alarm.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—Tests made of red fire in the Tower of Jewels at the Panama-Pacific Exposition late last night caused a double alarm of fire to be turned in and sent several fire companies to the zone. The report rapidly spread through the city that the tower, the center of the electrical illumination system, and also one of the concessions on the amusement "zone" were burning and that the entire exposition was threatened.

The red fire was being tested in preparation for the "Nine years after" celebration to be held April 15, anniversary of the great fire and the presence of firemen as a precaution gave rise to the false alarm.

OTHERS THAN KIN CAN BE MEMBERS OF A "FAMILY"

Court So Rules in Deciding a Contest Made Upon Payment of Insurance.

That one need not be kin to the head of a household or anyone else therein to be classed as a member of the family is the decision of the St. Louis Court of Appeals yesterday in the suit of Mrs. Agnes K. Peterson, an artist, of 1102 Rutter street, to collect $1000 insurance on the life of Thomas Ward, a widower, who died March 19, 1911. Upon the death of his wife Ward went to live at the Peterson home on invitation of Mrs. Peterson and her husband.

Ward carried a policy of insurance in favor of his wife in the Knights and Ladies of Security. After he went to the Peterson home, designated beneficiary as Mrs. Peterson, who thereafter paid the premiums.

Ward lived at the Peterson home two years at the expense of Mr. and Mrs. Peterson, but was not living there when he died, according to evidence. The insurance order refused to pay the money on his policy to Mrs. Peterson, declaring she was not a dependent of the insured nor were they members of the same family, as provided in the order's laws governing beneficiaries.

Judge Allen, who wrote the decision of the Court of Appeals affirming the verdict of a jury in the Circuit Court in favor of Mrs. Peterson, said the only point in the case was whether Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. Ward were members of the same family.

He held that a family does not have to be of the same kin to be classed as of the same family but the legal meaning of a family is a "collective body of persons who live in one home under head of common management, and not necessarily embracing all kindred of the same degree."

The Appellate Court decisions related that "the facts in the Peterson case call for the application of a liberal rather than narrow rule of construction, since the law looks with disfavor upon forfeiture of contracts of insurance."

He held that a family does not have to be of the same kin to be classed as of the same family but the legal meaning of a family is a "collective body of persons who live in one home under head of common management, and not necessarily embracing all kindred of the same degree."

Two unsophisticated confidence men tackled a wise New Mexico rancher at St. Louis this morning, lost some of their money to him and narrow escaped arrest after one of them had received a beating.

They decoyed C. A. Roberts, a Rosbuck (N. M.) rancher, into a coin-matching game. He pretended an interest to detain them until he could get a policeman. When, however, he did not play rapidly, one of the men tried to snatch $40 from his hand.

Roberts knocked the man down, took from him the dollar or so he had lost to them and a little in addition to pay for his own time and trouble and then pursued them several blocks. He says he tried to get a traffic policeman to arrest them, but the officer said he was too busy. Roberts went to police headquarters to complain against the policeman.

"WATER CURE DOCTOR" LOSES

Her Previous Conviction Affirmed by Appellate Court Decision.

The St. Louis Court of Appeals yesterday affirmed the finding in the case of Susan Lawrence Davis, known as the "water cure doctor," who was found guilty of practicing without a license by a jury in the Court of Criminal Correction about three years ago. After she was fined $50 in the lower court she appealed.

The Appellate Court says that the record shows an abundance of evidence to support the conviction. Prosecution of Miss Davis took place at a time when she brought civil suit against Mrs. Paul Bakewell Jr., wife of a lawyer, for a fee. Mrs. Bakewell was a patient of Miss Davis, it was averred.

FARMER'S WIFE TOO ILL TO WORK

A Weak, Nervous Sufferer Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I am glad to say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than anything else, and I had the best physician here. I was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work and suffered with pains low down in my right side for a year or more. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I feel like a different person. I believe there is nothing like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for sick women and young girls, and I would be glad if I could influence anyone to try the medicine, for I know it will do all and much more than it is claimed to do."—Mrs. Clara Franks, R. F. D. No. 1, Maplecrest Farm, Kasota, Minn.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should be convinced of the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health by the many genuine and truthful testimonials we are constantly publishing in the newspapers.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Confidential), Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

WOMEN OF ALLIED NATIONS OPPOSE PEACE CONGRESS

British and French Suffragists Will Take No Part in It, Says Mrs. Pankhurst.

LONDON, April 7.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst announced today that the Women's Social Political Union and the other suffrage organizations in Great Britain and France had decided not to participate in the forthcoming women's conference at The Hague to consider the question of peace. She said: "This movement is well meaning but mistaken. Those running this conference have no political influence. Pro-Germans are working hard in this direction here and in neutral countries and much German money has been directed in America, but this is not the time to talk peace."

Mrs. Schwimmer and American Delegates Leave for The Hague.
NEW YORK, April 7.—Mrs. Rosika Schwimmer, press secretary of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance, takes back to Europe with her today eight men and women to organize and attend the peace conference to be held at The Hague April 28, 29 and 30. The party took passage aboard the Scandinavian-American line steamship, Frederick VIII. Included in the party were Mrs. and Mrs. William Brown Lloyd, Mrs. Julius Loeb, Miss Florence Holbrook and Mrs. Eliza Blum of Chicago; Miss Laura Hughes of Toronto and Demarest Lloyd of Boston.

On the eve of her departure Mrs. Schwimmer said: "We have received word that so many women want to attend the conference that there is not a room in the peace palace large enough for them. I will talk in many towns in Norway and Sweden before going to The Hague. We understand the women of Russia will not be allowed to come because they cannot get passports."

MISS MARIE BUSCH, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August A. Busch and granddaughter of the late Adolphus Busch, will be married this evening to Clarence Drummond Jones, son of late Clarence N. Jones. The ceremony will take place at 8 o'clock at the Busch mansion on Grant's Farm, and will be performed by the Rev. John W. Day of the Church of the Messiah. The guests have been limited to the nearest relatives and friends and will number about seventy-five persons.

Although the wedding will be a quiet one on account of the serious illness of Karl Busch, who is in Pasadena, the details will be elaborately carried out. The bride party will stand in a bower of white roses and amaranth, with a canopy above made of ferns and hundreds of lilacs of the valley. The hall and stairway will be decorated with American beauty roses.

The bride, who is considered one of the most beautiful girls in St. Louis, will wear a robe of white satin, with an overdrapery of tulle worked around the edge with a border of seed pearls. The bodice, which is high-waisted, is formed of a jacket of point lace, falling below the hips into a peplum. The design of the lace is outlined with a tracery of the pearls. The waist line is marked by a rope of pearls, which is carried down them in a design of flowers. The court train is of point lace, edged with satin and orange blossoms. It is held at the shoulders with ropes of the pearls. The bride veil will be a cloud of tulle, simply arranged and held in place with a circle of orange blossoms. Her bouquet will be of white orchids, gardenias and white roses, tinged with lilacs of the valley and tied with streamers of tulle, with small clusters of the blossoms knotted into them.

Miss Clara Busch, Mr. and Mrs. Busch's second daughter and one of the beauties of the past season, will be maid of honor. Her gown is of pink tulle, one full skirt over another, taught at the bottom with tiny posies. The bodice is worn off the shoulders, with a tulle of pink satin cut in the fashion of the mayonaise, incrustated with pearls, which fits into the waist and finishes below the hips. The bridesmaids—Miss Vera Teichmann and Mildred Orthwein—will wear like gowns of tulle. Miss Orthwein's of white and Miss Teichmann's of pale green. Mr. Jones will have Vincent Healy of Chicago for his only attendant.

The bride made her bow to society three seasons ago at one of the most brilliant balls ever given in St. Louis. It was at Sunset Hill Country Club and lasted until morning. She was one of the special maids in the queen's court at the Volled Prophet's ball the following autumn. Mr. Jones' attention to her during her first winter were so marked as to cause the rumor of their engagement to be started at that time. Ever since it has been understood that he was the accepted suitor. Mr. Jones and his bride will spend their honeymoon at Hot Springs, Va., and when they return they will live at 2 Busch place for a while.

Mr. Jones is one of the crack tennis players of the country. He is a member of several fashionable men's clubs and is the nephew of George P. Jones.

Mrs. Sarah Chambers, who has been in Pasadena, Cal., all winter with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Joseph L. Chambers, has returned and has opened her home near Ferguson. Mrs. Joseph L. Chambers and her son, Powell Chambers, will remain in the West until late in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Holmes of the Maryland place have gone to New York for a short stay.

AMERICAN WOMEN HONORED

Panama Fair Board to Entertain Mrs. Nuttall, Miss Addams and Miss Davis.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 7.—Mrs. Zekia Nuttall of Covoscan, Mexico; Miss Katherine B. Davis of New York and Miss Jane Addams of Chicago have been selected by the Woman's Board of the Panama-Pacific Exposition as the three most noted women of America. They will be guests of the board at the exposition for one week.

Mrs. Nuttall was chosen for her work in prison reform, Miss Addams for social settlement work and Miss Davis for her reformatory work among girls.

MOTHER! REMEMBER "SYRUP OF FIGS" IS THE IDEAL LAXATIVE FOR A CHILD.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "physic" that mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them. With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolts are well founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing give "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a few spoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow. It should be the first remedy given as it always does good, never any harm.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—ADV.

MINNESOTA STATE EMPLOYMENT OF CONVICTS SUCCESS

Binder Twine and Farm Machinery Manufacturing Plants, in Which Products Were Made by Prisoners, Netted State in Two Years $687,793 Profit.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 7.—The recent decision of Missouri, through the enactment of a law to abrogate the prison contract labor system Dec. 31, 1914, suggests the question, "Has state employment of convicts for manufacturing proved a success in Minnesota?" C. E. Vasily, chairman of the State Board of Control, which has full administrative and financial control over Stillwater Prison, and Henry Wolfer, Warden of the prison for 22 years, who resigned last year, both answer this question, and both of these administrators say "Yes."

To substantiate this answer they point to growth of the industries, the profits derived from them and the heavy support the people of Minnesota have given to the system.

Preferable to Old System.

"The State account system is far preferable to the contract system," said Chairman Vasily. "I believe that in time no convicts will be employed in any prison under the contract system."

Former Warden Wolfer thus condemns the contract system: "The contract system is not a desirable method, as it involves the private gain of the contractor, who enters the contract only with a view of the large profits that he may realize on account of the low price for labor usually charged by the State."

The last appearance of the contract system in Minnesota was recorded when the prison stopped work under its shoe contract in August. Plans are being considered for the employment of the surplus labor which resulted from stopping work under the shoe contract. A bill is pending in the Legislature to allow a part of the inmates to work for compensation on the roads.

Binder Twine Industry.

The manufacture of binder twine was started at Stillwater Prison in 1901. The first season's output was 300,000 pounds. Four years later the plant was turning out 3,000,000 pounds. The annual business at that time amounted to about $123,000. During the biennial period ending July 31, 1914, the twine plant produced 26,197,980 pounds. Every bit of it was sold. The revenue realized amounted to $5,264,500.

On Aug. 1, 1915, the opening of the biennial period, the value of machinery, equipment and raw material was $323,699. The amount of raw material purchased during the biennium cost the State $2,553,817. Expenses of the plant totaled $27,417. Miscellaneous credits amounted to $24,591. On July 31, 1914, the value of machinery, equipment and raw material was $518,157. The net result from the twine plant, according to these figures, was a profit of $680,115 to the State. In addition to this profit 75 cents a day was paid to the institution support fund for the labor of each convict employed. The amount of money so paid was $117,077 for the biennial period. The earnings of the convicts themselves totaled $35,695.

The earnings system at the Stillwater Prison allows the inmates to earn from 10 to more than 50 cents a day.

Farm Machinery Industry.

The second prison industry, Minnesota having but two at present, is that of manufacturing farm machinery. Binders, mowers, rakes and trucks are made by the convicts. This kind of manufacturing was started in 1907.

In the beginning an experimental machine of each kind was made and put out in the State. Reports of their operation were very satisfactory. In seven years the output of the farm machinery department increased from four machines to 15,435 during the biennial period ending July 31, 1914. The products of the biennial period were sold for $708,886.

When the period opened Aug. 1, 1912, the value of machinery and material in the farm machinery plant was $192,878. During the two years $509,401 worth of material was purchased. The purchase expenses were $359,586. Miscellaneous credits totaled $29,917. On July 31, 1914, the value of the machinery and equipment was $551,920. On these figures the net profit to the State for the biennial period was $87,618. For the support of prisoners at 75 cents a day $7,935 was taken from the plant's earnings. To the convicts themselves for their labor went $27,417.

$687,793 Profit in Two Years.

From the foregoing it will be seen that State employment of prisoners netted the State a cool profit of $687,793 in the two years.

The output from the twine plant, which former Warden Wolfer said had about reached its limit, this year will be close to 21,000,000 pounds. The price has been fixed, according to law, by the State Board of Control. It is 7 cents a pound for standard sisal. When it is known that a rival concern will ask close to 5 cents a pound for its twine, the saving to Minnesota farmers can be appreciated. Other grades of twine have been reduced this year from one-half to three-quarters of a cent a pound in price. The last three years the farm machinery department showed an annual increase in output of 72 per cent.

Former Warden Wolfer said that the twine had turned out 26,197,980 pounds of twine since the plant started.

"It is believed by careful observers that the farmers of the State have been benefited to the extent of 3 cents per pound," said he. "This makes an economic saving to them of $6,231,719. This figure should be augmented by profits to the State of $388,362, making a grand total of gain to the farmer and State of $6,620,081."

The net profits of the prison industries are turned into the prison revolving fund, which is in the custody of the State Treasurer. When the twine plant was started the Legislature appropriated $150,000 as a nucleus of the fund. An additional $100,000 was added to the fund by the Legislature a few years later. The fund now amounts to $2,750,000. With the exception of the appropriations of $350,000 it represents clear profit.

The fund is used to carry on the industries as the products can only be turned over once in a year. As soon as the money is received for sale of the products the prison authorities start buying raw material for the next year's work.

Marketing of Products.

The method of marketing the industrial products of the prison is prescribed by the law within certain limitations. The Board of Control and Warden have the price of the twine about March 1. All inquiries about twine are notified by the Warden. Usually the twine product is disposed of without solicitation. This year every bit of the twine has been contracted for. It is sold by contract to individual farmers, dealers and farmers' clubs, as in the case of a number of farmers clubbing together and buying a carload.

If a crop failure should result and compel cancellation of many orders, the board may sell its products outside the State as provided by law.

The farm machinery is all sold through dealers. This is necessitated by reason of the fact that the machines must be kept in place where they may be repaired, which is done by the dealers, instead of having the machine sent back to the prison. But a small portion of the machinery product is sold direct to farmers. The price of the machinery is also set by the board about March 1. The price varies with changes in cost of material and production and the status of competition.

Industrial Management.

By these methods the Board of Control is placed at the head of the management of the industries. As practiced in Minnesota, the Warden is allowed almost full control in managing the work at the prison. He is appointed by the board. The Warden appoints the Superintendent of Industries. The Superintendent is held responsible for the conduct and efficiency of his foremen and the prisoners in his plants. He is compelled to make a monthly report on all stock received the previous month, material on hand and the different kinds of stock manufactured during the month, with the cost of the same.

It is his duty to see that all bills are promptly checked when articles are received and to see that any article or material is up to contract. He is compelled to report all information that may be for the best interest of the work in his charge.

The foremen under him are charged with watching over the work of the prisoners and to see that their departments are kept in order. They direct work of the prisoners and must see that all work is of good order, in reasonable quantity and that there is no waste of material. The foremen are directly responsible to the superintendent and the warden. They are compelled to follow the general rules of the prison with the same exactness required of all officers and guards.

No Politics in Management.

While the Board of Control is a political board, it does not allow politics to enter into conduct of the prison or any of the 13 institutions under its control.

"Under present conditions no political boss can tell the Warden to put any political henchmen to work."

LITTLE PIMPLES ON CHILD'S FACE

Itched and Child Scratched. Could Not Leave Them Alone. Something Terrible. Used Cuticura. In a Month Child Was Healed.

Merle Beach, Mich.—"My little daughter was nearly two years old when she had little pimples come on her face. It was just a little red blemish when it first started. I think they must have itched for she would scratch them until they would get to be large sores, nearly as large as a ten-cent piece. It seemed as if the poor girl could not leave them alone. If we held her hands she would try to rub her face on something else. It was just terrible. I used most everything I could think of and everything anybody told me to use and nothing would help her. I decided to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment and here I had used them one week I could see they were healing. Before a month was up you would never know the child had ever had any sores on her face." (Signed) Mrs. Lewis White, June 22, 1914.

said Chairman Vassily.
The board is appointed by the Governor. Each member serves six years with a salary of $4500 annually. The board was created in 1901 to take away local influence from the institutions and keep them out of politics. Prior to the organization of the board, local boards appointed by the Governor controlled the institutions.

Federal Inspector's Opinion.
Capt. C. H. Laynes, representing the Federal Bureau of Insular Affairs, recently visited St. Paul by authority of the War Department. His chief object was to inspect the prison at Stillwater. Here is what he said about Minnesota institutional control:

"The institutions of Minnesota are magnificent proof of the wisdom and efficiency of the State Board of Control. In the hands of proper men it is no doubt the ideal method of maintaining good institutions, because the lack of funds and powers are such that legislation cannot hamper."

The Prison Warden gets $4000 a year salary. In addition the State provides him with a fine home outside the prison walls and furnishes board for his family in the first grade. They are given preference in the work, provided they are capable. First grade has 780 prisoners at present; there are 264 in second and 10 in the third grade. There is little distinction in work, second grade men working along with the first grade inmates. The third grade prisoners do not get paid and are compelled to do the meaner kinds of work.

Former Warden's Views.
The problem of employment of prisoners has been studied at St. Paul by former Warden Wolf. His views on the contract system and State accounting system of employment are the result of years of experience with the practical workings of both systems at the Stillwater prison.

"What are the requirements of a successful prison labor system?" said he. "First, prison labor must be productive. No one can dispute that fact. Second, there should be no private interest in the products of prison labor. Third, the prisoner should share his earning power, and thus be made to know that he is a producer, not a pauper, at least while he is in prison. Fourth, it should be remunerative and make the institution self-supporting. Instead of a heavy burden upon the taxpayers. Fifth, the industry should be selected with a view of reaching the following results as nearly as possible:

"1. To make the competition as nearly equal as possible.
"2. Such as will give mechanical employment to the inmate and best fit him to earn an honest living after leaving the prison.
"3. Such industries as can and will make the institution self-supporting.

Solution of a Problem.
"I believe the State account system provides the most satisfactory solution of the problem. It comes more nearly within the requirement of a successful prison labor system. Under it one or two industries are selected, which furnish employment for all of the inmates except those working in the kitchen, cell houses and other departments about the prison. The State owns the buildings and machinery and carries on the business. It employs competent foremen and disposes of the manufactured products. The success of this system depends upon the care in selecting industries and in obtaining efficient management, absolutely free from all political influence.
"The products should be such as are used by a large portion of the population, in order that the benefit may be as widely and equitably distributed as possible. The three points mentioned in selecting industries may all be accomplished under the State account system.

Answer to Criticism.
"In common with all successful enterprises, there have always been a few who, for reasons sentimental, political or otherwise, have criticized the prison labor system of Minnesota, claiming that it is not right that the State should realize a profit from the labor of convicts who themselves receive but a 'pittance.' If the convict is employed in quarrying rock or some other equally unproductive labor, the State is put to a large expense for maintenance of the prison, but there are no critics to charge the State with robbing the unfortunate convict of his rights."

"But let the State establish a modern industry, whereby it may employ its convicts on productive labor and by the profits of this industry support the institution without calling upon the taxpayer to foot the bills, even though that labor may be much less tedious than the monotonous rock-breaking, and of much more value to the convict, what is the result? The whole system will be criticized by those who have not taken the time to make a study of the prison labor problem. Their whole argument is based on the false premise that it is wrong for the State to receive any profit from the products of prison labor."
"To comply with this premise would result in inefficiency, but efficiency is the keynote of our modern industrial system. Fortunately these attacks have had little effect on public opinion of the State, upon which the success of any State enterprise rests. The people of Minnesota have watched the progress of the prison industry and they do not wish to change a system which has stood the test for 20 years and has proved itself to be for the best interests of all—the inmate, the public and the State."

Chairman Vassily was reluctant to predict what success Missouri might have in selecting a superintendent outside of the State in order to avoid local political conditions. He said that local conditions would govern in each case.

"In Minnesota, we have gone outside of the State to get a Prison Warden," said he. "The present Warden, C. S. Reed, came from Washington State. We put a premium on brains. Local political influences within the State have absolutely no bearing on our selection of Prison Wardens. If a desirable man cannot be found in Minnesota, we seek timber that has been developed in other states."

The fact that former Warden Wolf served continuously for 22 years shows that politics does not enter the prison. In the old days the Warden was subject to removal every two years by the Governor. Then politics did play a part in the prison administration. But conditions such as this have long since been wiped out.

After the Board of Control took over the prison contracts were renewed as they ran out. The old system was slowly weeded out until the manufacturing was put on a State account basis.

Star Club Raided by Police.

The Star Club, at 1200 Park avenue, was raided by the police yesterday evening. Ten men were arrested, but no evidence of liquor selling was found. All of the men were released except George Schmidt, of 156 Lafayette avenue, an officer of the club. He furnished a common law bond. A case of beer was confiscated.

How Soldiers Live and Fight in Trenches

When it rains the trenches are half filled with water. The cold is always of the damp, penetrating, dreadful kind that chills to the very marrow. Hot food is served three times a day to the men in the trenches by other soldiers, who scurry like rabbits through long uncovered tunnels running back from the works concealing the guns.

These men in the trenches must have good food in order that they can have good blood, and if they have good blood they have good courage, they keep warm because their circulation is good and their extremities are warm from exercise. Many men are invalided, however, because their blood and their stomachs were not right to withstand the awful hardships of this winter campaign.

When you do not properly digest your food your blood becomes thin and every organ of the body soon feels the effect. The result is—headaches, sleeplessness, nervousness and many other symptoms. Unless the stomach is given aid at this stage—more serious illness follows. Now is the time to help your weakened stomach—now is the time to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery (in tablet or liquid form). It has the same power to set you right as it has been proved to have in thousands of other cases. It will help your stomach so that the food you eat will nourish and sustain you and make good reviving blood. It will enable you to get rid of the waste a sluggish liver and irregular bowels have permitted to accumulate in your system.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is composed of known native healing remedies, roots and herbs, with no alcohol, no narcotic drugs to give you harmful habits. It can now be obtained in tablet or liquid form from dealers, or send 10 stamps for box of tablets.

IS YOUR HAIR BEAUTIFUL?

Here's a Splendid Home-made Tonic.

In a pint of clear, soft water dissolve one-half ounce Concentrated Hairward Powder and apply to the hair and scalp once or twice daily. This amount will last for some time, and is easy to apply and perfectly harmless. It gives the scalp and roots of the hair, and promotes a heavy and luxuriant growth. It may be used on the eyebrows and lashes and is a boon to the man wearing, or wishing to grow a moustache.

It is also a wonderful preparation to use on children's hair, as it contains no oil, keeps the scalp clean and active and makes the hair grow thick and long. Get it today and begin using it at once. Be careful to apply it only where you want hair to grow.—ADVERTISEMENT.

BANK BOOKKEEPER TELLS HOW HE AIDED IN FRAUD

Held Out Accused Kansas City Attorney's Checks, He Says, and Juggled Accounts of Others.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 7.—John A. Kornfeld, former bookkeeper for the Mercantile Bank, took the witness stand yesterday in the trial of James A. Plotner, charged with obtaining money from that institution by "trick and fraud." The bank is alleged to have lost $360. Kornfeld, 22 years old, has pleaded guilty to a charge similar to that against Plotner. Sentence in his case has been deferred. Plotner is an attorney, 60 years old.

Kornfeld testified that at the request of Plotner he held out checks drawn on the bank by the attorney, making the accounts under his charge balance by entering the amounts against accounts of other depositors.

According to Kornfeld's statement at the time of his confession, he received less than $50 of the money alleged to have been taken from the bank.

SMALL CROWDS WORRY SUNDAY IN HIS NEW REVIVAL

Tabernacle Only Partly Filled at Paterson, N. J.—Night Collection Only $323.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Billy Sunday, Ma Sunday, Rhody, music leader, and the rest of the sin-scorchers, whose ambition it is to drive the devil out of Paterson, N. J., did a lot of wondering yesterday—and apparently a lot of worrying—over the success of their revival.

Neither in numbers, in fervor, nor in cash contributions did the first two week day sessions come up to their expectations. In fact, their afternoon meeting yesterday was what Broadway, Paterson (borrowing the term from Broadway, New York), called "a flivver."

Sunday, in his early statements to Patersonians, predicted: "Why, folks, you'll have the walls of this place bulging out, so many of you will be coming here."

But yesterday's matinee saw a nary a bulge of the frame structure. It holds approximately 8000. About 4000 to 6000 made a comfortable, leisurely way in. Before Billy's sermon was over, at least a tenth of that number were (again to drop into the vernacular of the Rialto) "walking out on him." Their contributions totaled $211.

Of the really excellent choir, which numbered at full strength 1000, no more than 200 or 300 were present.

The night meeting was much better when it got started, but it did not start until very late. It was scheduled for 7 o'clock, but there was not more than three quarters of a capacity audience in the place at that hour and Billy did not appear until 7:40, when the tabernacle was nine-tenths filled.

Among the ushers and the singers and the rest of the workers the order had gone after the matinee: "A little more pep! Ginger the crowd up! Start the clapping yourselves and get things going!"

Billy himself set the example by putting forth his very best efforts. He threw himself face down on his platform and yelled over the edge of it. In illustration of how the Lord called a certain famous evangelist to start a revival in Wales. He spun around, dervish fashion, and driving home his points with an overhead pitching motion, went through as much work as an active mountaineer working a full nine-inning game.

At the night meeting there were occasional hits by Billy which roused the crowd into applause and laughter. But on the whole it was rather pathetic. The crowd was not nearly so enthusiastic as the Sunday night one—and that had been nothing to boast of in comparison with the number and ardor of the Quaker City meetings. Last night's assemblage contributed only $323. The total collections since Sunday have been $2231.

FEDERAL BIRD PROTECTION LAW IS STILL EFFECTIVE

Department of Agriculture Explains Adverse Kansas Court Decision Only Applies in Local Territory.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Many of the press comments on the decision of the United States District Court, rendered March 20, at Topeka, Kan., holding that the Federal migratory bird law is unconstitutional, are erroneous, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, and are apt to mislead the public concerning the real situation.

The Kansas decision, like a former decision in the Eastern District of Arkansas, is limited in its operation solely to the district in which it was rendered. Neither decision settles or nullifies the law, and the exact contrary has been held by the United States District Court for South Dakota. The Arkansas case has been appealed to, and is now pending in the United States Supreme Court. The act of Congress protecting migratory birds stands effective until the Supreme Court finally decides the question of its constitutionality.

In the meantime it is the duty of the Department of Agriculture to enforce this law and the officials in charge will endeavor to do so. Reports of violations will be carefully investigated.

WESTERN PACIFIC PURCHASE UP

California State Officials Consider Proposals to Buy Road.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 7.—A conference on the proposed purchase by the State of the Western Pacific Railroad, now in receivership, was held yesterday in the office of Gov. Johnson. Those present were Rudolph Spreckles and Charles S. Wheeler, who made the original suggestion to Gov. Johnson; Lieutenant-Governor John Eshleman, John F. Noylan and Clyde L. Seavey of the State Board of Control, and John F. Bowie, a San Francisco attorney.

The conference followed the return from New York of Spreckles and Bowie, who discussed the plan with financiers. In Washington, Spreckles called on President Wilson, and it was reported that the purpose of his visit was a discussion of public ownership of the railroad.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Municipal Program.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I beg to suggest the following program of constructive legislation and policies for the new Board of Aldermen:

1. Establish municipal free employment bureau.
2. Establish all night, lawless police court, for benefit of poor people unable to furnish bond and desirous of immediate trial.
3. Establish street stands as public market places at definite locations throughout residential districts, where farmers can back up wagons and deal direct with consumers.
4. Make timely provision for winter unemployment, so that the municipality shall do its share to relieve seasonal suffering and distress.
5. Establish municipal free legal aid bureau.
6. Extension of facilities of Koch Tuberculosis Hospital and provide staff of field nurses.
7. Substitution of day labor by the city for contract labor as far as may be possible.
8. Extension of facilities of day labor as provided in the charter for mechanics and laborers, to all city institutions as far as practicable. (The State of California now applies it to all hospitals and hotels, both municipal and private.)
9. Establish municipal farm for chronic incurables and those suffering from venereal diseases.
10. Municipal collection of rubbish and ashes at city's expense.
11. Stricter traffic regulations, especially for downtown district.
12. Suppression of weird and unnecessary street noises.
13. Transfer control and operation of Industrial School to the Board of Education.
14. Establish municipal loop to connect with east approach to Free Bridge.
15. Municipal ownership of public utilities subject to a practical, scientific and complete study by the city of what is needed and of ways and means of accomplishment.
16. Board of Aldermen candidates should take a strong position favorable to the parkway, so as to influence public sentiment at the special election.
17. No executive sessions by any committee of the Board of Aldermen to be permitted. Every hearing and all sessions and business by the board should be open to the public.

The Park Picnic Grounds.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
My husband and our two children visited the Art Museum yesterday and afterwards strolled south and west toward Forest Park, and imagine our surprise to find several beautiful picnic grounds. Now I think that it is time for fathers and mothers to make an appeal to our public schools to hold the school picnics in these park picnic grounds. I am sure that all of the children would enjoy them much more than they do having the picnics at summer gardens and Forest Park Highlands. Have the Park Commissioner put up some swings and then turn the youngsters loose on the grass among those beautiful trees, and then they will have a real picnic, and I am sure they will all be benefited more in health and mind than if they spent the day at a summer garden.

A MOTHER.

Private Ownership.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
"I own my farm; I paid for it with my own toll—no socialism in mine; no dividing up," says an agriculturist. Suppose you were the only farmer on an island, with no markets or buyers to reach, how much would your farm be worth to you, either? It is the same all down the line of investment. And yet people say they own property, absolutely.

SIDNEY AVERILL.

Our Colored Brethren.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I believe that the good colored people would like to have the good white people know that they are enemies of prize fighting. And there is no reason why we should feel piqued, or should be disturbed because of the result of the Willard and Johnson fight encounter. Or is it natural that there should be understood and condoned displays of hostility toward negroes because of their color? Isn't this a boycott on the intelligence, spirituality and morals of the good negroes, and on the sympathy and generosity of the good white people, and also of the church and the state?

The Hon. Eugene W. Chaffin, at the risk of his life, rescued me at Springfield, Ill., in 1905, during the riot there and I am glad to have lived long enough to protest against such thought and action due to an unrighteous purpose and a weak will.

W. L. EDWARDS.

THE FIRST CHARTER ELECTION.

If the Republican City Committee gave out the order for the defeat of A. H. Frederick that Chairman Schmoll told the Post-Dispatch had been given, the "boys" enthusiastically disobeyed the instruction. Mr. Schmoll was a bad prophet. Frederick was elected by a majority of more than 22,000 over Curlee, his Democratic opponent.

The order on the ground stated by Schmoll was creditable to the Republican party. The election of Frederick is a misfortune for the party and the city.

The difference of 17,000 between the lowest and the highest Republican vote shows that there were enough independent voters at the polls to have assured a mixed result, with the defeat of the worst candidates on the Republican ticket, under ordinary conditions.

The conditions were abnormal. There were potent factors contributing to the sweeping Republican victory. The most conspicuous was the indifference of the Democrats, thousands of whom stayed at home. The Democratic vote fell 16,000 below the small vote in the mayoralty election two years ago. All of the former Democratic strongholds were captured by the Republicans.

The most influential factor in the reduction of the Democratic vote was the resentment of the machine on account of the turning down of ward leaders by the Democratic Conference Committee which selected the party candidates.

The refusal of the committee to accept machine candidates and the unqualified advocacy of the merit system by the head of the ticket kept the party workers from the polls.

Mayor Kiel helped his party. His excellent administration and his leadership in progressive policies under the new charter gained popular confidence. Voters of all parties wanted him to have a supporting majority in the Board of Aldermen.

Doubtless hard times and the national reaction against the party in power contributed, while the weak Democratic administration in Jefferson City with Gov. Major's local meddling did its part.

It is significant that Frederick polled next to the lowest vote on his ticket and that every candidate marked by the Post-Dispatch as unfit on account of his record was heavily scratched.

We are not discouraged in the fight for independent voting and nonpartisan municipal government. The awakening of the people and the opportune time for victory will come.

The Republicans have a heavy responsibility. Enough good men were elected to control the Board of Aldermen for honest and progressive government. We indulge the confident expectation that under the leadership of the Mayor a majority of the board will stand for the forward movement under the new charter, for the efficiency system and for a broad program of improvement. Now is the time to open the campaign for nonpartisan government under the State law giving St. Louis home rule in municipal elections through the initiative. We believe that not only Democrats, but a great body of Republicans will support a movement for efficient, business city management divorced from partisan politics.

"DEAR EVERYBODY."

A St. Louis man named Biese, who was even more bored with life than his name implies, nevertheless acquired just the right attitude towards the world at the moment of leaving it. Before killing himself Monday evening he penned an explanatory line beginning "Dear Everybody." If he had acquired that affectionate outlook a little sooner it would have prevented his bitter outlook and self-cruelty. The man to whom everybody is dear could never be guilty of the supreme selfishness of self-destruction. To love people helps the sorriest of us over the roughest places, softens the hardest trials, and is the great saving grace of life.

EAST ST. LOUIS VICTORY.

The rejection of Chamberlainism by East St. Louis voters is a victory for civic decency and a rebuke for the sale of a million dollar water franchise for a paltry $75,000. It is therefore a victory, in the best sense, for the city.

The fact that women voters cast the deciding ballots for law enforcement and due protection of communal as against corporate interests, is an added guaranty of East St. Louis' continued growth not only in population and wealth, but also in cleanliness, healthfulness and social safety.

NOT THE PRICE TAG.

Taxable property in Missouri has been appraised for taxation at $1,800,000,000, but if anybody is thinking of buying it he should prepare to come across with at least $2,000,000,000 more than the tax appraisement. A large portion of that $2,000,000,000 is in personal property that the assessors always overlook. They never overlook the workingman's little home, however, not even when its "owner" is buying it on installments and paying interest on a mortgage.

If any feature of American government is less scientific or less democratic than our national and state taxing systems, we fall at this moment to recall it.

AUTHOR BIERCE AT 73.

Though he is approaching 73 years of age, the fighting microbe in Author Ambrose Bierce's blood seems as active as when he served at 21 as an officer in an Ohio regiment during the Civil War. It impelled him to visit Mexico, where he caused deep anxiety to literature by disappearing. He now turns up after Washington had made search for him for months and it seems that warfare in the sister republic was too amateurish to satisfy him. He had made his way to Europe, got a commission from Kitchener and is at present on active service in Northern France. If he survives we may be sure of some sound writing on the present war that will be worth our while. No other author who has dealt with our war has appealed more strongly to imagination than has Bierce in some of the tales in which he has preserved for us the incidents and atmosphere of that great struggle. If he can fight as well as ever at 73, it is a fair assumption that he can also write as well as ever.

GREAT BRITAIN'S WRONG.

With the demand on Germany for reparation on account of the sinking of the William G. Frye our Government sends a protest to Great Britain against the so-called blockade of neutral commerce with Germany.

The note is courteous and friendly in form, but vigorous in substance. The law and the practice against the British order are clearly stated. The order is demonstrated to be untenable under international law and custom and contrary to Great Britain's own contentions in the past. The British have not a peg upon which to hang their prohibitions of trade between neutral nations and no legal basis for checking noncontraband trade with Germany without an effective blockade. Our note points out the means of protection against contraband trade through the right of search and seizure.

The assertion by Great Britain, France and Germany in their "novel and unprecedented" blockades of unlimited belligerent rights over neutral commerce amounts, as the American note says, to "an almost unqualified denial of the sovereign rights of the nations now at peace." In our protest to Germany as well as in the remonstrance now lodged in London, we have made it plain that our sovereignty no less than our rights is now menaced by the practices of belligerents that are based wholly upon assumption.

In vigorously defining and insisting upon our trade rights and protesting against their violation by any belligerent the United States is not only serving all neutrals, but is serving the nations at war which are madly assaulting the whole structure of international law. They will find the stand of the United States for fair dealing between nations and for the life of trade in war of tremendous value in the future.

Great Britain must admit she is wrong. Her plea that Germany is doing worse things in the submarine war zone is not a valid defense. If she does not recede from her position it will be solely on the ground that she has the power to enforce wrong. This is a dangerous precedent for which she will have to answer. The warning that reparation will be demanded for every act of wrong prepares the ground for future settlement.

THOMPSON'S 140,000 IN CHICAGO

Political writers in Chicago are divided as to the causes that enabled William Hale Thompson to roll up 140,000 plurality against Sweitzer for Mayor. The most obvious explanation is that the Can't Stand For Thompson Club, organized after the primaries, did not initiate enough members during the campaign.

THE POSTAL REVENUE'S EVIDENCE.

The revenues of the postal service, which extends even to the minutest and most remote section of the country, are an even more reliable index of general business conditions than railroad revenues, the reliance of the financial writers in comparisons.

Analysis of the postal revenues of recent months makes possible two deductions of interest and importance. One indicates the extent of the war's responsibility for such lessening of activity as has overtaken business in America. The other gives assurance that the war's handicap is being gradually lifted.

The receipts of the Postoffice Department for last July showed a gain of 4.7 per cent over the same month of the year before. But August, which saw the war in full swing, saw also a decline of 1.3 per cent below the total of the previous August. This decline, increasing during September and October, reached 5.71 per cent in November.

But since November the falling off has steadily grown smaller. March was only 3.95 per cent below the March of 1914. This is highly reassuring. With the same ratio of decrease next July will equal last July, which in turn was 4.7 per cent over the July of 1913. That will mean that business "as usual" has been restored.

TERRE HAUTE'S ELECTION-FIXERS.

To the 89 who pleaded guilty of offenses against the ballot at Terre Haute, 27 are to be added who were convicted on a jury trial in the Federal Court, making a total of 116 guilty ones.

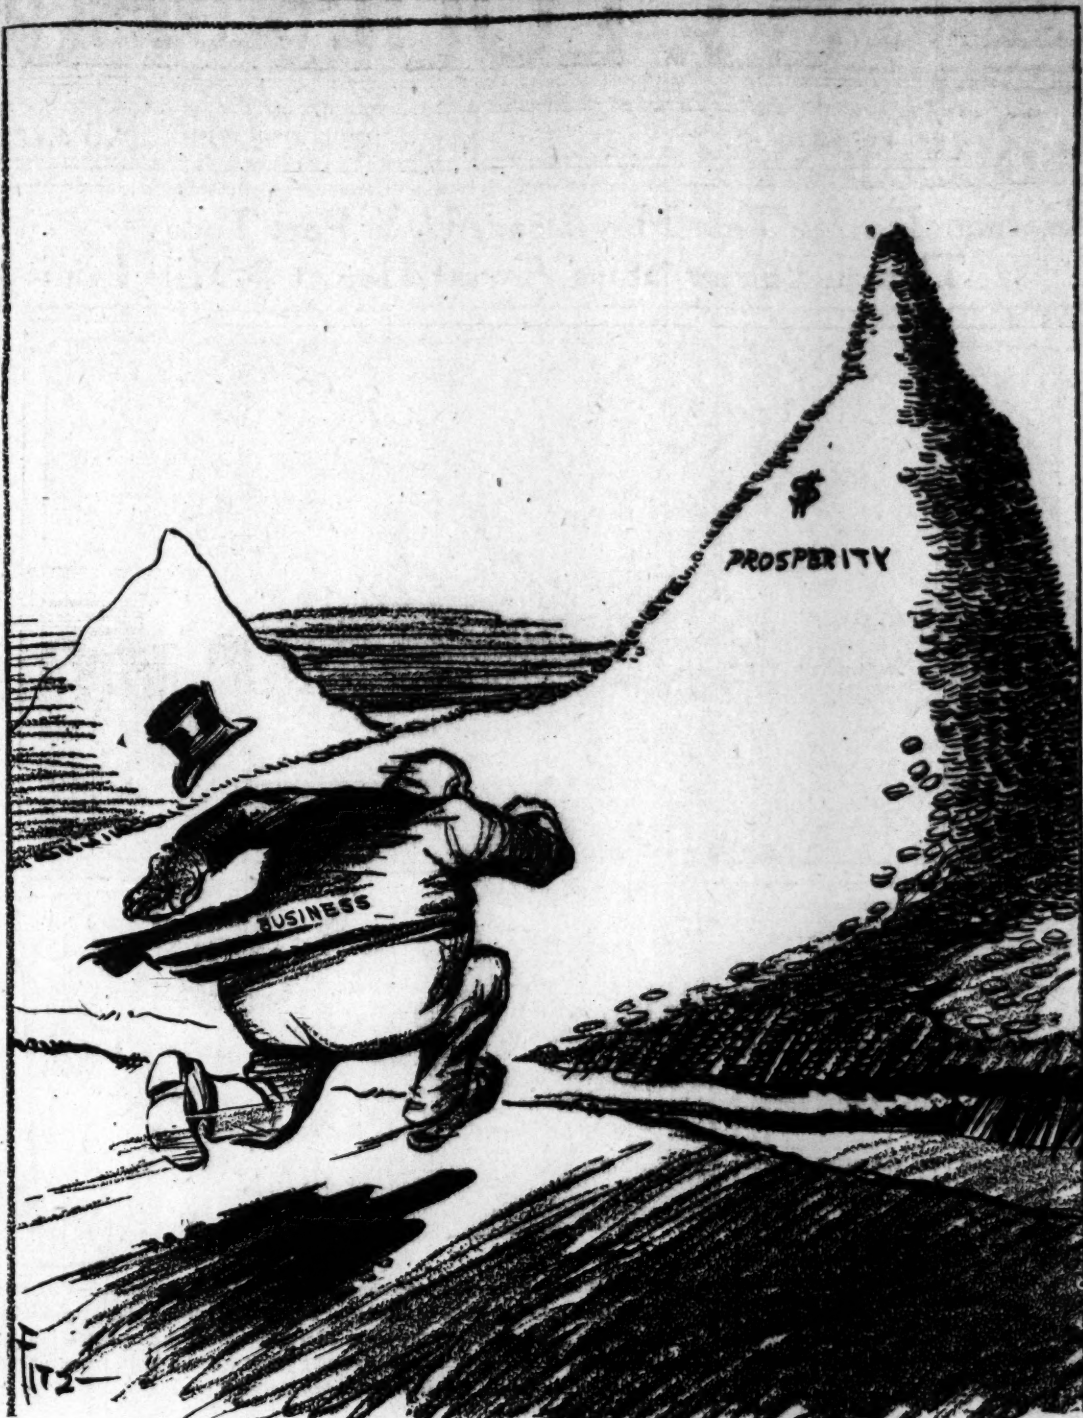

If the Federal authorities should take cognizance of irregularities in all elections in which Senators and Representatives are chosen, it is practically certain that all the grosser forms of ballot frauds would disappear. It is, however, just as certain that if the Terre Haute frauds had been left to the State to punish, the perpetrators would never have been brought to justice—a disheartening reflection for those who wish to see the responsibilities of the general Government confined within their historic limitations.

WHAT DOES DYER OWE NALL?

Federal Judge Dyer bet a hat with his clerk, Nall, on the late unpleasantness in Havana. His Honor taking the Johnson end of it. On the day thereof, as the bettors were returning from lunch, Nall concluded from the incomplete bulletins of the fight then in process that Willard was a sure loser, so he took his Honor into a hat store and bought him one of the new spring styles for $5. Subsequently learning that Willard had won, Nall claimed that his Honor owes him a hat and $5. He is still claiming it. For his part his Honor contends that he owes Nall only a hat.

It is a sporting proposition above the realm of mere law or propositions of Chitty and Blackstone and questions of general assumption, detinue, replevin, recovery upon wagers, and all that legal and technical dry-rot. It transcends Federal jurisprudence and Federal jurisdiction entirely, we take it, and is a question of pure ethics for that supreme tribunal the people, our readers.

We propose a referendum, to be decided in this forum, and we invite our readers and communicators to favor us with their written opinions. What, if anything, does Judge Dyer owe Clerk Nall?

THE FALL OF ANTWERP.

LONG the Scheldt's dark craft-infested shore
Lay Belgium's strong but fated citadel—
And from the towers of her ancient Thor
Defiantly her banners rose and fell!
Beneath those pennons Albat's hosts had formed
The last battalion of their bravest men,
Who, with the targe of rightful honor armed,
Defended scenes they will not view again!

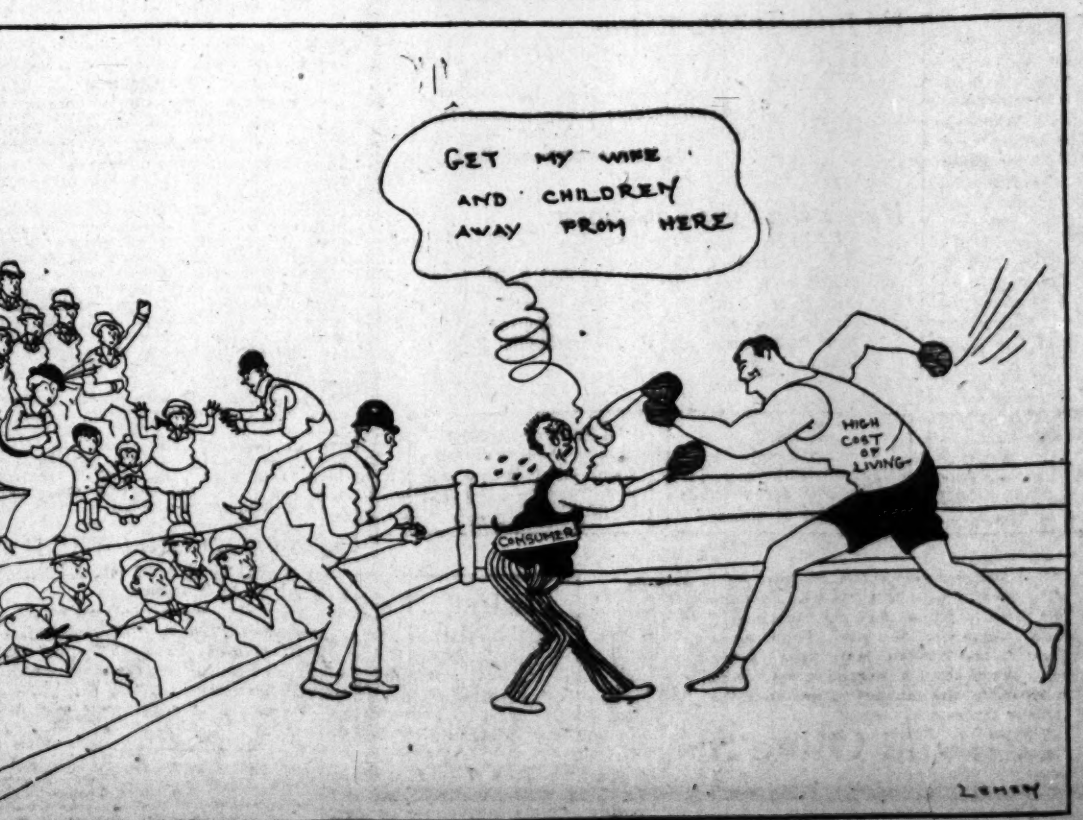

There many a heart whose living hope beat high,
Was filled with terror at the dismal sound
Of cannonading ever drawing nigh.
Which faced the walls and shook the very ground:
And from the open highways of the town
Vast hordes of people hurried forth in streams,
Beneath whose tread the frail were trampled down,
And hundreds rent the air with strangled screams!

Still loud and nearer roared the trembling boom
That poured its deadly shell like heavy rain,
Which wrapt the city in a cloak of doom,
And felled the massive towers built in vain!
On—on, still nearer thundered the charging foe,
Till earthy thunder split the dark'ning air—
Till dread and fear were turned to hideous woe,
And desolation wrought its own despair!

Then Belgium's last and mighty strength did fall,
Her bravest fled, but fled not that they feared—
While hearth and spire and dome beneath the hail
Of bursting shells into the dust were cleared:
And from the caverns of her ruined pride
Dread Silence viewed the quiet midnight stars,
Above whose course God's peaceful heavens ride
And tremble o'er the lust of mortal wars!

There fell the crown of Belgium's all-loved king,
He, stanchest of his legions, fearless—brave!

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

HEALTH HINTS.

G. S.—If you can't find the Dunlop pyrophorus cure, see best dentist you can find.
MABEL.—Eneureals (bed-wetting) is caused by bladder disorder. Turpentine in some cases does not cure. It is well to consult specialist. Objection to being awakened every night at 11 o'clock is that it creates a habit. Drink nothing after 4 p. m. Circumcision is said to prevent. Physicians use medicine, hypnosis or electricity. Massage of the bladder has good results in some cases. Baths and exercise for weakly children. Sleep on side, even if necessary to tie around the waist a towel with a knot in the back. Large tonsils or adenoid growths and also worms are said to be the cause sometimes.

AFFLICTED.—A mucous colitis patient says in the Courier-Journal: "I found a physician who said that the trouble was not local, but due to a nervous overstrain of long standing. Under his direction ate heartily, ate a mixed diet, lying down after meals, with a hot water bag on my stomach, that the food must move easily down. I continued the use of bran and agar, took oil enemas, and stopped worrying. Thereby gaining 20 pounds in six months. The oil enemas were the best grade of cotton seed oil and should be retained an hour or more, having taken the oil slowly and as little as possible to produce a bowel movement. The only medicine is bismuth and extract of belladonna, which, of course, should not be taken without a physician's prescription. This treatment needs to be continued for months, and while it is a nuisance, it is preferable to feeling half miserable continually, and may finally be partly or wholly discontinued, leaving one in greatly improved, if not in perfect, health. The bran and oil decreases the friction caused by an over-secretion of mucus, the heavy diet replenishes the lacking nervous energy, and the laying on of hot furnishes a support to the bowels and improves the general condition."

LAW POINTS.

H. M. K.—Pres legal aid bureau, Board of Education Building, Ninth and Locust streets.
MRS. T. M.—Chief Naturalization Examiner M. R. Bevington characterizes as "condensed inaccuracy," the answer given you in regard to naturalization of women. He writes: "A married woman can take no naturalization step whatsoever. If her husband refuses to become naturalized, and she desires citizenship, the only thing for her to do is to divorce him and then proceed to secure naturalization as would any other alien. As long as the marital relation exists, she is helpless in naturalization matters. United States v. Cohen, 178 Fed. Rep. 834. There are no dissenting authorities. Sec. 3 of the Expiration Act of March 2, 1907, 34 U. S. Stat. 1238 provides: 'That any American woman who marries a foreigner shall take the nationality of her husband. At the termination of the marital relation she may resume her American citizenship, if abroad, by registering as an American citizen within one year with consuls of the United States, or by returning to reside in the United States, or, if residing in the United States, by continuing to reside therein.'"

BRONXING.—For bronzing liquid, use a liquid made from such gums as Dammar, etc., adding benzol and enough linseed oil to give desired consistency. Apply a coat of this liquid and dust on the bronze, using the best grade. When the bronzing is dry, coat with very thin white shellac varnish.

MCDERMOTT.—Usual fee for priest performing marriage ceremony and up, according to what the groom sees fit to offer. Dispensation, A. must be paid by the Catholic party. One of the two is a Protestant. Unless there is a dispensation, marriage must be in the parish in which the parties reside.

L. D. X.—Good Friday is the Friday before Easter, observed as a solemn fast, since the earliest days of Christianity, in memory of the crucifixion of Jesus Christ, which event is said to have occurred on Friday, April 3, 33 A. D., or on Friday, April 2, 33 A. D. The expression, "Good (probably God's) Friday" is said to be secular to the Church of England; the Anglo-Saxons usually called the day "Long Friday," on account of the length of the services on that occasion.

STRANGER.—One who was cured says: "I suffered for years and my school life was made miserable by the habit. It is no defect in the vocal chords, but is simply a question of nervousness. I could read aloud by the hour without any nervousness, but could not read aloud one minute to anyone. Don't expect to stammer and yawn won't. It is all a question of the will. Draw a long breath before a troublesome word. One never stammers when singing. Because of frequent long breaths."

HIG 4.—He who would be a locomotive engineer must study application to the master mechanic of the road selected and present recommendations from persons willing to vouch for his responsibility. If he is successful he will be placed in the roundhouse and set to work wiping the wheels, driving rods, frames, guides, cylinders, trucks and tanks of the engine. If he keeps his eyes open he will gradually learn a great deal about the locomotive, and in time will be promoted to fire cleaner, and then that to the position of helper, when he will be required to keep the boilers full of water, see that all the parts are thoroughly cleaned and that each engine is duly shifted into the stall and apart for it. When he has become thoroughly familiar with the duties of helper, he stands a chance of being sent out as a fireman on an extra train or to act as a substitute for a regular fireman who is sick or taking a day off. The next promotion is to that of extra, and in time he will become a full-fledged engine driver.

Saving the Business

While the boss is out of town raising funds, the office manager and his stenographer keep the firm from going to the wall. In the end each is rewarded with one another.

By George Elmer Cobb.

NETTIE DURAND sat at her typewriter awaiting dictation. Meanwhile she stole a secret glance more than once at John Ballentyne, office manager for her employer, Mark Lane.

She marveled at his quiet, unobtrusive ways. During the past six months he was the most reliable and uniformly courteous young man on all occasions. It had piqued Nettie somewhat, for she was used to attention, and from the first something in the open, earnest face of her office companion had attracted her.

"No life about him, Nettie, that is my opinion," Elsinore Drury had told her. "He's stone."

"He has taken me to an entertainment twice," vouchsafed Nettie, "and I never met a more considerate gentleman."

"No fire, no enthusiasm," differed Elsinore. "Takes things as they go—no initiative."

Somewhat Nettie was impressed with the ceremonial dignity of Mr. Ballentyne, yet it was a pleasant contrast to the shallow, frivolity of most young men she knew.

"I respect him, that I must say," Nettie reflected.

Into the office early one morning Elsinore came all in a flutter. She beckoned Nettie into the rear office, out of the hearing of the others.

"Oh!" she hurried. "I know I am not doing right in giving away professional secrets, but I think so much of you!"

"What now?" challenged Nettie with curiosity.

"You know I am stenographer for Mr. Wilson, and that he is a lawyer?"

"Yes, Elsinore."

"Well, just a little while ago one of his clients from another city came in and I, of course, overheard all their talk. It was about your employer, Mr. Lane."

"Why, how strange!"

"And serious it may turn out for you, dear."

"You startle me, Elsinore!"

Nettie Hears the Secret.

"WELL, I'm going to let out a secret. It seems that my employer, Mr. Charles Manville, and Mr. Manville is the man who advanced the capital for your Mr. Lane to start in business."

"I think I have heard something of that," murmured Nettie thoughtfully.

"Anyhow, your Mr. Lane has been talking of paying back Mr. Manville for some time. Mr. Manville has grown uneasy. So he came to the city to consult for legal advice. He stated his case to our Mr. Wilson. If your Mr. Lane is going to fail, or is in close quarters, or anything like that, he wants to seize on the business to pay himself before a lot of creditors get ahead of him."

"Oh, dear!" fluttered the dismayed Nettie, very pale now. "What did your Mr. Wilson tell him, Elsinore?"

"He told him that Mr. Lane was out of town, but that he should come to the office here and sort of hang around and see if he really was anything the matter with the business. Then if he was satisfied that there was no immediate danger of his failing, to go back home and visit Mr. Lane when he returned."

"Oh, thank you, dear!" said Nettie, gratefully, but nervously. "I must see Mr. Ballentyne about this at once."

Nettie timidly approached the office manager when Elsinore departed. She led him aside out of the hearing of the others. Then she told him all that her friend Elsinore had revealed to her.

John Ballentyne "woke up." "Still waters run deep," and the very expression of his intelligent face told Nettie clearly that in times of stress he had the firm reserve anchor of a quick intuition and the mental force to decide quickly.

A Plan Is Imparted.

"My dear Miss Durant," he said quietly and with a faint smile looking at the corners of his lips. "This is indeed valuable and timely information. I think I am justified in telling you that business affairs here are not so simple as they should be. We owe some bills past due and it is in the power of Mr. Manville or other creditors to close us out if they take the alarm."

"Oh, I am so sorry for Mr. Lane!" quavered Nettie, ready to cry.

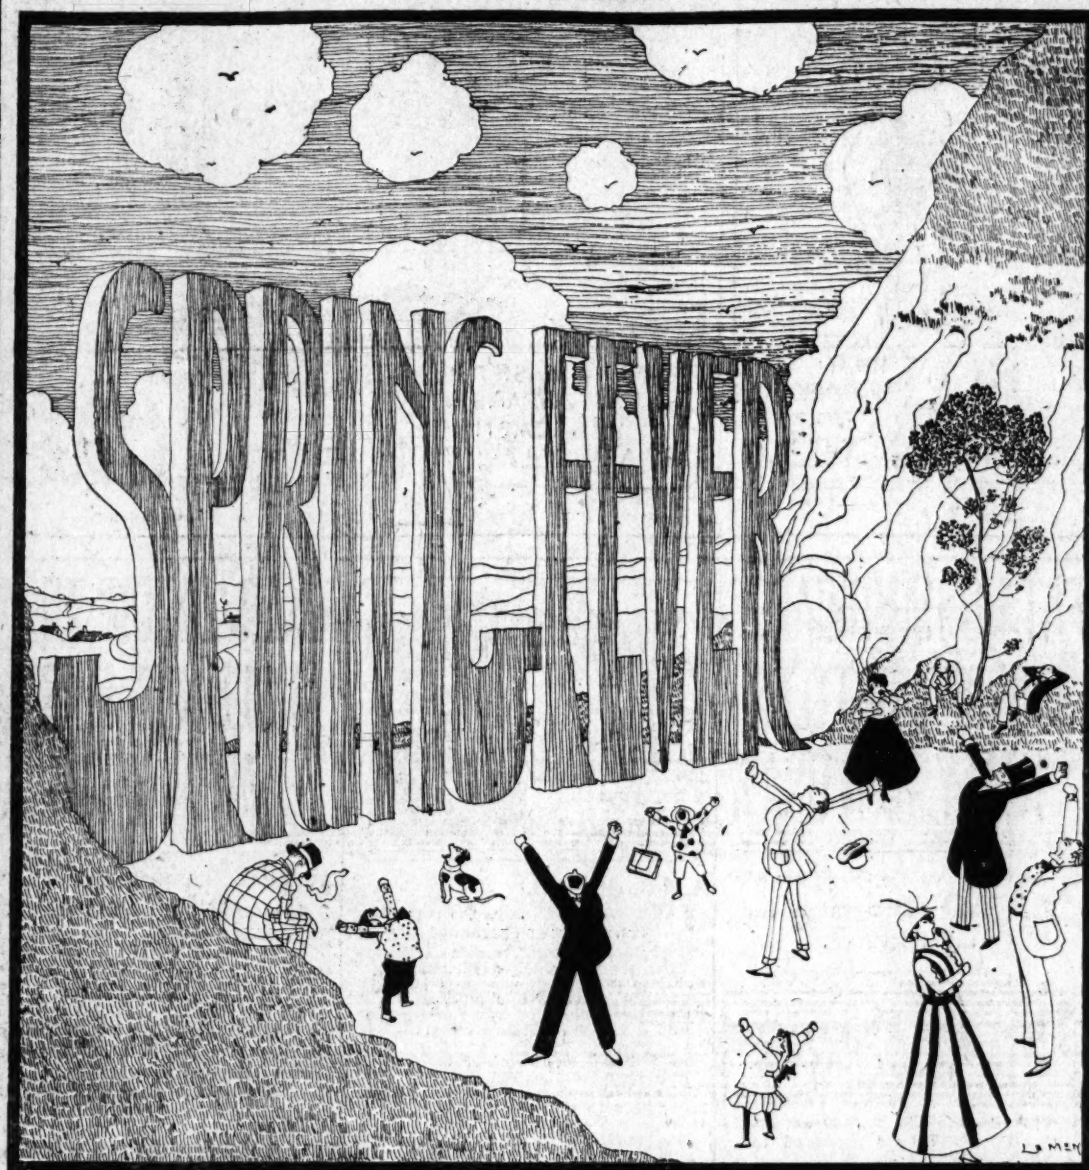

"But I also have every assurance," went on Mr. Ballentyne confidently,

Peace Hath Her Blockades No Less Renowned Than War

How It Turned Out.

NEVER was a plot to inspire confidence more successful than that of John and his faithful ally, Nettie. The Lane office employees were posted as to the part they were to play.

Checks, notes, drafts and currency were flashed freely; over the telephone charming Nettie took all kinds of impossible orders. Everything about the place was brisk and busy.

Scarcely able to keep her face straight, Nettie took dictation for two letters. They were addressed to two of the leading business men of another city. They showed a closeness of business interests that fairly staggered the forsy creditor, who finally arose and left the office, saying that he would come to town again in about two weeks.

"It's all right," Mr. Manville has gone home perfectly satisfied, announced Elsinore, coming into the office a little later.

Mr. Lane returned the following day. He had raised new capital. The business was saved.

One Woman's Way of Making Home

GIVEN a methodical wife, and the house is never upset.

SOMEHOW or other Mrs. Brown's house never did seem upset! When the spring and the fall maids for house cleaning seized on the other women—when windows were open, rugs on the lines, carpets being beaten and so on—her household routine was as serene, and nothing seemed at all amiss.

One day the wall paperer's wagon was drawn up before the door, and had you passed for perhaps an hour you might have seen the windows open, but nothing more unusual than the sight presented by an average bedroom in the morning.

Mrs. James, when asked the whence of the seven days' wonder, replied:

"Every morning, soon after breakfast as convenient, while the maid is washing the breakfast dishes, I step into the attic. I stand in the center of each room there, in turn, and by a habit born of long practice, I sweep each wall carefully, in turn with my eyes. I start on my right, then front, then left, then swing around and survey the rear, till I have made the circuit."

"From this room to the next, but before I go I make jottings in a little pad which I carry."

"From the attic to the second floor I pass then. Bedroom, nursery, sewing room, hall, bathroom, each in their logical order, is visited. Then downstairs. By this time the maid has cleared the dining room and is at work upstairs on the beds, which have been aired the while."

"Parlor and sitting room, dining room, kitchen, follow next in turn. By and by into the laundry, just as a Captain might make a tour of his vessel! Now, what is the result? Of course, we have the usual household routine—Monday, wash day; Tuesday, ironing; Wednesday, downstairs, and Friday, upstairs, with Saturday for baking and incidentals; but, wait a moment!"

"Suppose, as I step into the bathroom today, that I note that the paper is getting to look rather dirty; I jot the fact into the notebook. Suppose that as I step into Jack's room, I remark for the first time that his mattress is really sagged at one side. Suppose, as I get to the kitchen, Mary says, 'I see that them stoops' sagged some.' And I suppose, in the laundry, I see that the cement floor is cracking."

"By and by I call up the wall paper cleaner's, give name and address and say: 'We have a little job here; won't take you long, just a bathroom.'"

"The paperer's dull season is on and he comes shortly. He tears up that he comes, but no more."

"Similarly, I call up the mattress people, and instead of taking out every mattress in the house and sleeping on makeshifts or on the floor, just because well, because one mattress needs it, and while they're fixing it they might as well fix them all—why, for the one night Jack doubles up with Bobbie; they enjoy the frolic and soon all is in shape as before. The other mattresses are attended to in the same way."

WOMAN NERVOUS, WEAK AND DIZZY

Could Not Do Housework for Family of Three. Vinol in a Short Time Made Her a Strong, Well Woman.

"I was in a run-down condition, nervous, weak and dizzy, so that in doing the housework for my little family of three, I would be all exhausted. I tried cod liver oil emulsions and three or four other medicines without benefit. Finally a friend told me about Vinol and I tried it. I soon felt better and now I have built up my strength. I have no more nervous or dizzy spells and can do all my household work without getting all tired out."—Mrs. Elmer Glidden, Fort Edward, N. Y.

Women are so active nowadays, and so much is expected of them, that they constantly overdo and suffer from headaches, backache, nervousness and kindred ills. Vinol is a most efficient strength creator for such women.

It is the medicinal elements of the cod's liver, aided by the blood making and strengthening properties of tonic iron which makes it so far superior to all other tonics.

If you are in this condition try Vinol on our guarantee to return your money if it fails. Chester Kent & Co., Chemists. For sale by Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo.

The Hard Luck of Mr. Fox

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

ONE night old Mr. Fox was running along as fast as he could toward home with a fat goose and a hen and thinking about what a nice breakfast he and Mrs. Fox would have, and how pleased his wife would be when he should have been thinking where he was walking and looking out for himself.

The first thing Mr. Fox knew after thinking of his breakfast was to find himself in a deep hole among sticks and stones. To be sure, he had the hen and goose with him, and that was some satisfaction.

Now it happened that Madame Goose was alive, and so was Old Black Hen, and when Mr. Fox fell he dropped them, and they jumped to their feet.

"A pretty fix you have got me into," said Mr. Fox, wishing to blame some one for his mishap. "Perhaps you can get me out now, you have brought this trouble upon me."

Madame Goose looked up and so did Old Black Hen, but the top was too high for them to reach. "We cannot fly so high," said Madame Goose.

"We might cackle and quack," suggested Old Black Hen.

"No, no," said Mr. Fox. "Use your wits, not your voices."

Kill Catarrh Germs and Stop Catarrh

Breathe This Antiseptic Dry Air in Your Own Home and Quickly End Catarrh, Head Colds and Snuffles.

One of the subtlest signs of catarrh of the head, nose and throat is catching cold easily. When you have catarrh the mucous membranes are inflamed, swollen and sensitive, and a slight draft or sudden change of temperature at once sets you sneezing, snuffling and wiping your nose. Then again, while these delicate tissues are in an inflamed state, the catarrh germs sneezed out and coughed up by you will drive every one and easy lodgment in your affected nose and throat into your raw sore organs. Then your catarrh gets worse and you wake up with a sore throat and a thick, sticky mucus in your nose and throat. Catarrh can be overcome, and the germs of catarrh destroyed if you will go to Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., or in fact any other good drug store, and ask for a large, complete Hyromet (pronounced High-o-met) treatment, consisting of a bottle of the oil of Hyromet and a small hard rubber inhaling device.

You put a few drops of the Hyromet oil into this inhaler and then put it between your lips and breathe naturally. Hyromet will go into your nose, throat, lungs, and clean out your air passages. In three minutes your air is clean and you breathe freely. You do this every day for a few days, and the catarrh is entirely gone from your system.

Hyromet, when used with this inhaling device, is always sold with the positive guarantee that it must give you successful results or you can have your money back.—ADV.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR GIRL

By HELEN ROWLAND

Lying is a fault in a boy, an art in a lover, an accomplishment in a bachelor and a habit in a husband.

The first sign of a man's love is his desire to remodel a woman in everything from her ideals to the brand of her tooth powder, so that by the time the average girl marries she knows at least 47 different ways of being an "angel."

The most puzzling question down in every single man's heart is why he is so fatally irresistible to women.

The average youth makes the mistake of fancying that what he needs for success in business is a lot of "front," when it is merely a lot of backbone.

A woman always embalms the corpse of love; a man wisely cremates it and plants a new love in the ashes.

When a man falls in love with a woman he places a halo on her head and a pedestal under her feet, and then rails at heaven because she doesn't grow wings and perform miracles.

Friendship is the salt of love, flirtation the spice and mutual consideration the benzoate of soda in which it is preserved.

Before marriage distance lends enchantment, after marriage it lends contentment.

Dainty Springtime Menus.

WITH the coming of spring and the laying aside of furs and heavy clothing, the housewife who is looking to the health and happiness of her household will also put aside the winter foods and make a complete change in her menu.

Every fruit and green vegetable that is available should be made use of in the spring diet, and all rich and heavy foods used in winter menus, put aside. Puddings, pastries, pancakes and meats should be absolutely taboo, and fruits, vegetables, eggs, cheese and lighter breads be used in their places.

A pleasant and wholesome change from the pancake and waffle will be found in the little rosette wafers, and these can also be made the place of doughnuts, puddings and pastries. These wafers can be served for breakfast with creamed fish, chipped beef, poached egg, or, in place of waffles, they can be served hot and crisp with powdered sugar and a dash of lemon juice. They are delicious sprinkled with powdered sugar and served with unweetened whipped cream and are equally good with bananas or berries and cream.

Oysters, creamed chicken, mushrooms or sweetbreads served on wafers and decorated with olives, radishes, watercress, or parsley, make an easily prepared and appetizing entree.

When used as a breakfast dish, or for combining with meat or vegetables, the corn meal, whole wheat or white flour recipe may be used, but the batter should contain little or no sugar. When made to serve for dessert they are nicer if more sugar is added.—Southern Woman's Magazine.

Beauty Doctor Tells Secret

Detroit Beauty Doctor Gives Simple Recipe to Darken Gray Hair and Promote Its Growth.

Miss Alice Whitney, a well-known beauty doctor of Detroit, Mich., recently gave out the following statement: "Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home, at very little cost, that will darken gray hair, promote its growth and make it soft and glossy. To half a pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is also fine to promote the growth of the hair, relieve itching, dandruff, falling hair.—ADVERTISEMENTS."

Robert Mc Ward, owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers, started something when he announced that he would not allow his team to play Sunday baseball. Ward stated that as he did not work on Sundays, he would not allow his team to play on that day. By doing this Ward made it tough for Lloyd Rickard and the National League. The Federal League schedule, which was made up of 140 games, included four one-day jumps for rival clubs, while Les Magee's aggression is considered the cause of the Federal League's fall.

The schedule makers realized that this was the one big day and instead of letting it pass, they shifted different games to Sunday.

Les Magee's outfit visits St. Louis for four-game series, July 22, 23, 24 and 25. The Cardinals will be the visitors in Sunday, Pittsburgh is set here for one battle and then returning home to compete with New York.

the thermometer, heaving properly, and then heaving again. He showed a lot of stuff and a lot of heart. He was a real ball player. But if Sal, Dock, Griner and Ferdue don't slip there won't be much reason to hope about the rest of the team in Rebbie's arm.

But the array of pitching talent which should've got involved in a heated discussion with Choke-em Redd's Hergog is practicing his famous "action on the mound" in time he's going to strangle. So we won't fuss with Charley. We'll just hope he'll be a good pitcher, a good coach and call the wings dead square. Now that gives the club a roster as follows:

CATCHERS—Snyder, Gonzales, Roche and Glenn.

INNINGS—Hergog, Salles, Griner, Ferdue, Nedova, Nickaus, Robinson and Lott.

OUTFIELD—Hugling, Dargaber, Beck, Butts, Betzel and Hyatt.

Walton Cruise has a contract for the current season as pitcher and punter for the Cardinals. He is a right-hander. But in spite of this he says he will not make room for Tommy Connors, who is a left-hander, and that's long on the Cardinals club. Can you beat that?

Cruise recalled this decision after a talk with Mike Kelly, the St. Paul manager. He has been successful in the past, he says, it's the way he says it. Mike should have said, "I don't care. He's too important a person for baseball."

Ham Hyatt caught nine innings for the Cardinals yesterday. There are now catchers Dan Hannon, Ed Hannon and Hyatt.

First guess is that among these fines would be Batzel, a promising boy, by the way, and Glenn, a promising pitcher. Rickey only has two pitchers in shape. They are Weillman (flood.) And either he or Raitt is going to pitch on Saturday. The Browns put in some hard kids in the last game, the best day of the practice season to work.

San Johnson had a conviction fit over the fact that a certain newspaper said that he was going to go to the big league. He asked two of his friends to apologize to Sky on his behalf. They said, "You're not doing the dirty work. Why didn't he apologize in person?"

TERRIERS' LEADER HAS MADE MANY SHIFTS IN TEAM

Only Three of Last Year's Players Will Be in Opening Lineup This Season.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 7.—When the Terriers make their first appearance of the season at Federal League Park in St. Louis this spring, the fans will be greeted by an almost new team. Many changes have been made by Manager Fielder Jones. Only three players who participated in the opening game last spring, will be in the lineup. These three players, though, will be in different positions. Al Bridwell, who started the season for the Terriers at short, will play second. Ward Miller, who played center field, and Delois Drake, who played left last season, will exchange position. If Armando Marana is awarded to the Feds, the Cuban will play in place of Drake. Every position on the infield has a new face, with the exception of Veteran Bird. Bill Burton has replaced Russell Miller, the St. Louis boy, at first; Al Bridwell has taken Joe Mather place at second; while Ernie Johnson will be at short. Charlie Deal, formerly of the world's champion Havana, has replaced Al Boucher at the far corner behind the bat either Groves Hartley or Harry Chapman will work in place of Mike Blum, who is with the Brooklands. Following are the line-ups of last season and the probable one that will open the 1915 season against Chicago:

Undergrads Beat McKinley.
The McKinley High School team lost its first game of the season yesterday, the St. Louis U. undergrads grabbing a 5 to 4 victory in seven innings at Forest Park. The hitting was light on both sides, the winners getting only four hits, while the losers were credited with three. Lefty Wallace and Teddy Menze twirled for the South Siders, and managed 10 batters, while Harlan Borgiano and Weis, who labored for the undergrads, walked nine.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Drawing the Sam Langford Line.

"SEE the new champion, Willard, is one of these 'safety first' lads," mused Old Man Dope, as he hung a "for rent" sign on the bomb-proof shelter he gave up just after the big mix-up in Cuba. "How do I figure that? Say, Bo, hasn't he drawn the color line? Any bum mitt artist can draw that."

"Of course, racial sentiment may have a lot to do with Willard's determination. But it doesn't take much clairvoyance to figure that Jess' decision was made up of three parts personal and one part racial reasons, as follows:

Sam Langford, 50 per cent.
Sam McVey, 25 per cent.
Joe Jeannette, 15 per cent.
Sentimental reasons, 10 per cent.

Why Ruin the Bank Account?

ON the eve of signing up for $3000 a week in vaudeville, to exhibit as champion of the world, the last thing one would be apt to think about would be stepping in front of a locomotive or one of those big black fighters.

"In short, Willard is not drawing the color line, but the Sam Langford line."

Has "Tham" Lost His Fangs?
THE funny part of it is, continued the celebrated victim of George Stallings' headlong dash, "that there doesn't seem much reason for that two-years-plus of white championship to worry about anybody beating him. If he'll line 'em up in a finish bout, it'll be a Langford hogtie man is over-rated, probably. 'Tham' is going on 30 years of age. He hasn't been able to train the watermelon out of his pantry, in to these many moons. For my part, I don't believe he could reach Willard hard enough to hurt the big fellow, seriously. The big boy has shown what he can take and still win."

He Can Put Down J. Barleycorn.
McVey and Jeannette are over-boosted, I think. Joe is reaching the old age limit and can be omitted from calculations. McVey is one year older than Langford and has never

Mayor Kiel to Roll First Ball in Tenpin Tourney Friday Night

Six teams of the Royal Arcanum League will open the five-man event in the city bowling tournament on the Washington alley Friday night. The complete schedule for the city tournament will be ready today. The two-man teams and individuals will start on Saturday on the De Soto Ping alleys.

Mayor Kiel and officials of the Royal Arcanum League will roll the first ball on the six alleys. Officials are thinking of putting through the plan which was worked on the Florida Mayor by the A. R. C. officials.

When the Mayor rolled the first ball down the alley, he owned 14 strikes. This was done something like this: A string was tied around the pins on the alley the Mayor was bowling, while the pin setters on the other drives pulled a lever pulling all the pins. Although the entry list is not as large this year as was expected, some good marks are expected as the six alleys at the Washington and those at the De Soto Ping have been put in first-class condition.

A record entry mark is expected to be established in the South Side tourney, which will be staged on the Grand-Arsenal alleys. It was announced yesterday that the teams wishing to take part would have until April 11 to send in their entry. Several quints from Belleville and other nearby cities will roll.

ENGLISH POLOISTS WIN

Scoring two goals in the final period against one for the Americans, gave the English team a 2-1 victory over America in the polo game at the Coliseum last night.

When the negro was training for Flynn down in Mexico the promoters built a ring the floor of which extended only a few inches beyond the ropes. Thus, if a fighter were by any chance knocked through, he would have pitched headlong to the ground or into the laps of ring-side spectators.

Harry Sharpe, who was on the ground for the Post-Dispatch, saw the defect and advised Johnson to have the floor of the ring extended outward two or three feet, with a slight upward tilt.

He demanded the same thing at Havana. Any ring which is not so constructed is likely to see an accident happen to one of the boxers which may cause a fatality.

It Makes a Difference.
GOING writers have been discussing the advisability of increasing the diameter of the cup on the greens, to improve the putting. Increasing the size of the cup would probably meet with favor at the nineteenth hole.

Some Reason for It.
ROGER BRESNAHAN declared himself in favor of players with plenty of blood, bone and muscle. Apparently he has been one-third gratified by the make-up of his club, thus far.

You can guess which third by the following extract from a training camp dispatch:

Bresnahan has decided that he will win the pennant by straight baseball, not by the "inside" stuff. The reason is obvious—Bresnahan has not the proper material to play the "inside" game. He has the batters, the speeders and (he hopes) the winning pitchers—straight baseball combination.

There is no chance for Roger to use the "inside" stuff, which comes from players THINKING. Roger doesn't feel equal to supplying the brains for the outfit. It seems remotely possible from this that Bresnahan has cornered the "bone" market.

Morris-Coffey Winner May Get Go With Willard

Much Interest in 10-Round Bout Between Heavies at New York Tonight.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The privilege of becoming logical challenger for the world's heavyweight championship was considered by local sporting men to be the big stake of the 10-round bout between Jim Coffey, the Dublin Giant, and Carl Morris of Sapulpa, Ok., here tonight. Each of the big fighters was intent upon getting the first chance at Willard and there was no certainty that both would be on their feet at the end of the bout as they are regarded as heavy hitters.

In size Morris more nearly measures up to Willard than any other man in the ring today, as he is 6 feet 4 inches in height and weighs 235 pounds. Coffey stands 6 feet 3 inches and weighs 200 pounds.

BRESNAHAN DESIGNS NEW UNIFORMS FOR HIS MEN

CHICAGO, April 7.—Players with the Chicago National League club will wear uniforms designed by Manager Roger Bresnahan this season. It was announced today.

The home uniforms are of solid white with "Cubs" across the breast in black; black trimmings, cap and stockings. The traveling uniforms are solid steel gray with black trimmings and "Chicago" in black across the breast. Bresnahan is the inventor of shin guards now worn by catchers throughout the country.

George Chip Punches a Hole in McCoy's Meal Ticket; Almost a K. O.

NEW YORK, April 7.—One year ago Al McCoy, an aspiring middleweight, defeated George Chip of Newcastle, Penn., a promising contender for the title, in one round. It was a lucky punch, and since that time McCoy has been picking up a deal of easy money by boxing second and third rate men at the local clubs.

After a lot of dodging, McCoy agreed to box Chip again, and today is sorry he did not hold on to his easily won reputation a little longer, for last night at the Broadway Sporting Club of Brooklyn, Chip gave him one-time vanquisher a lesson he will remember for some time to come.

For the first time since he was 10 years old, Chip punched McCoy all around the ring in the most approved manner, flooring him twice in the ninth round for the count.

That Chip did not return the compliment and knock out McCoy was due largely to over anxiety. The Pennsylvania boxer had McCoy staggering around the ring and practically all in, but he became wild and used poor judgment in the two rounds when the spectators looked for an ending of the bout before the time limit.

CANADIANS OWN BEST SCORES IN THE N. B. A.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Canadian bowlers headed the list today in every division of the championship tournament of the National Bowling Association. In the matches for individuals, two-man and five-man teams the bowlers from Montreal had the highest scores of the tournament to their credit.

J. D. Pallister of Montreal topped the individual list with his score of 302.

Tonight's schedule calls for a sweepstakes, open to all men who are not entered in the tournament or who have voided their scheduled games. There will be few doubles and singles tomorrow and no five-man games tonight.

LAW FORBIDS IMPORTING OF FIGHT PICTURES

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Persons who had hoped to see the Willard-Johnson fight in motion pictures will be disappointed. It was recalled here today that a Federal statute expressly forbids not only the interstate transportation of fight films, but the importation of such films from foreign countries. It provides a fine of $100 and imprisonment for one year or both for each offense.

The law was passed by Congress on July 31, 1910, 27 days after the Johnson-Jeffries fight at Reno, Nev., and resulted from fears on the part of many members of Congress, especially from the South, that race riots would follow attempts of the promoters to show the fight in the movies.

5-Cent Baseballs Get Trial.
HOOVERINGTON, April 7.—Five-cent baseball will receive a trial at the Illinois State Normal School. It was announced today. Six hundred tickets, good for five at-home games, have been sold for 25 cents each. The money realized will cover the expenses of the team and also will insure a large attendance, it is figured. If the plan proves successful it will be adopted by other Illinois colleges.

The Beaufort

(By the House of Kuppenheimer)

RIGHT-O! BEAUFORT is the name of that new Kuppenheimer Model the young men are all talking about.

Note the original collar and lapel, the natural shoulders innocent of padding; the shaped body with military high waist effect; the five button waistcoat worn with the top button open.

This is one of the most popular models ever produced for young men. It doesn't take them long to know when a suit strikes the right note, registers all the new style essentials—and has the effect they are after.

Young men know what they want and who is producing it. They saw in the work of this House as early as last season the first hint of the new military styles—which tells them plainly enough where to look for these fashions this Spring.

It is this knack of design, quite as much as the nicety of fit and tailoring, that young men recognize in the BEAUFORT, that makes them strong for Kuppenheimer Styles and go out of their way if necessary to find them.

Prices—$20 to $40

Kuppenheimer Clothes are sold by a representative store in nearly every Metropolitan center of the United States and Canada. Your name on a post card will bring you our Book of Fashions.

The Jarr Family

Written for the Post-Dispatch
By Roy L. McCardell.

Mr. Jarr Takes a Flyer in Economy That Almost Leaves Him Dead Broke.

"THE children need new shoes," said Mrs. Jarr. "By George! What do they do with their shoes, anyway?" asked Mr. Jarr, petulantly.

"They wear them. What else do you suppose?" snapped Mrs. Jarr, who didn't like the way Mr. Jarr spoke.

"It looks to me as if they held them against grindstones," said Mr. Jarr. "Every day—well, every week, anyway—it's the same old cry. 'The children need shoes!'"

"I notice you have good, comfortable shoes on," said Mrs. Jarr tearfully. "I'm sure the children are not hard upon their shoes, and I have tried to wait till the weather was warmer and see if they couldn't get light-weight shoes; but their feet are nearly on the ground and I'm afraid to wait any longer. Of course, you don't care if they catch their death of cold, but I do!"

"Who said I wanted them to catch cold?" said Mr. Jarr. "But I tell you, you make me sick the ideas you have. You'd think these children of ours were a millionaire's children. They have their patent leather shoes, they have their fur shoes, they have their school shoes, and in the summer, instead of letting them go barefoot, as I went when I was a child, you put white canvas shoes on them!"

"If you want them to run around in the gutters in this weather with bare feet, looking like beggars—although, goodness know, I never saw any bare-foot beggars in my life—you may," said Mrs. Jarr, emphatically. "But so long as I live they are going to have decent shoes, even if they have to do without spring hats and new spring clothes, such as every other child on our block has."

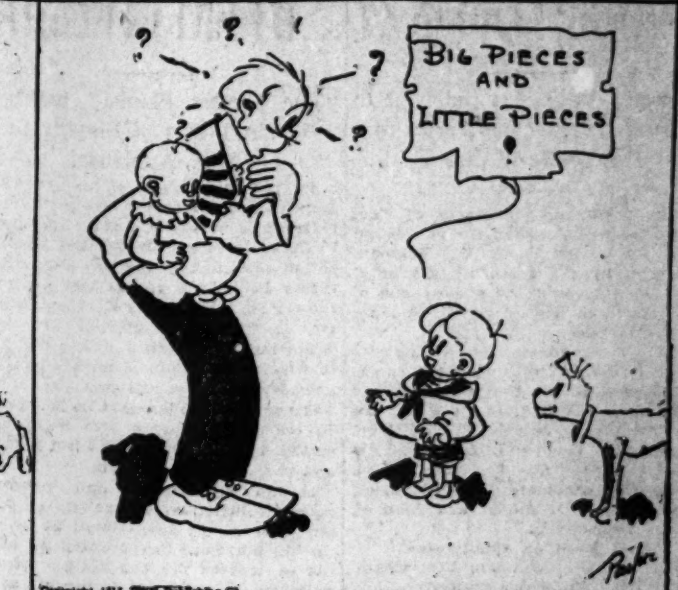

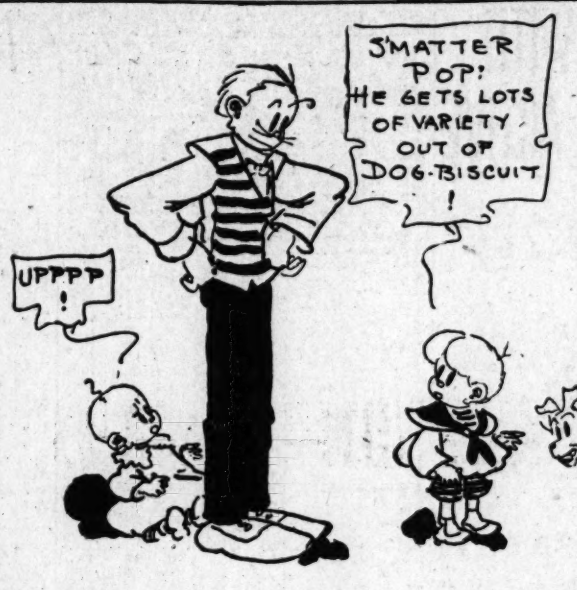

"Why, how you talk!" exclaimed Mr. Jarr. "You got them spring hats Saturday. I saw you!"

"Those cheap things!" exclaimed Mrs. Jarr. "Why, I only got those for them to wear to school and save their Sunday hats."

"When I was a boy I had one change

His Certain Shrine

WHEN on his way to evening service, the new minister of the village met a rising young business man of the place, whom he was anxious to interest in the church.

"Good evening, my young friend," he said, solemnly. "Do you ever attend a place of worship?"

"Yes, indeed, sir; every Sunday night," replied the young fellow with a smile. "I'm on my way to see her now."

A Hint.
WHEN you don't think I practice what I preach, eh?" queried the minister, in talking with one of the deacons at a meeting.

"No, sir; I don't," replied the deacon. "You've been preaching on the subject of resignation for two years, and you haven't resigned yet."

Clear Your Skin

Eczema, psoriasis, ring worm, pimples, scales and crusts are due to myriad deeply buried germs in the skin. To secure relief and cure these germs must be destroyed and eliminated.

The D. D. D. Prescription, a mild compound in liquid form of oil of wintergreen, thymol and other healing elements, will give instant relief in all cases. Unlike salves, it penetrates to the deeply buried germs, kills and washes them out.

All druggists have D. D. D. A generous trial bottle for free. Come in and let us tell you about our money-back guarantee offer on a full-size bottle. Ask also about D. D. D. Soap.

Hey, Ma! Where's that book on etiquette?

It Read Two Ways

JENKINS' wife was away on a visit. Now Jenkins was a very busy man. He believed not in lengthy communications. In letter-writing brevity was the synonym for excellence.

He loved his wife devotedly, enjoyed hearing from her often, and always devoured her brief letters with the keen appetite of an enthusiastic lover.

But to wade through a long, drawn-out letter of 16 pages was to him an utter waste of time and eyesight. So one day his heart danced with delight at the receipt of the following from her (a perfect gem of a thing—so short and sweet—so to the point).

"M. d. l. I b. s. d. f. t. n. a. n. o. t. w. m. f. "MARY."

He read it:

"My darling love: I barely sleep, dearest, for thinking night after night of thee. With much faith."

He should have read it thus:

"Money down low. I bought silk dress for $2 at Newburg's on tick. Wire me 50."

MARY.

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With the Othine Prescription.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by druggists under guarantee to refund the money if it fails. Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.—ADVERTISEMENT.

A Comfort.

OLD age has its compensations. Nothing can be more delightful than to sit down with some old friend and talk of how badly the friends of our youth turned out.

Stung.

IT'S wonderful what some insects can do. A grasshopper can jump 100 times its length.

"That's nothing; I once saw a bee raise a 200-pound man 2 feet off the ground."

His Error.

HOW did she come to write poetry?

"She had dyspepsia, and for a long time thought 'it was inspiration.'"

FUNNY, isn't it, how the crowd always sympathizes with the under dog, but doesn't ever seem to do anything to stop the fight?

DON'T USE SOAP ON YOUR HAIR

When you wash your hair, don't use soap. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified coconut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats soap or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—ADV.
